The Association has proven its ability to guarantee the financial integrity of its entire membership as well as to sponsor the ability of its members to perform the service required of them by the public.

BONDED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS

The Business World is demanding that public accountants should be bonded. It is as much protection to the accountant as it is to the business man. It is a safety valve which places the accountant firmly on his feet. It inspires the accountant to do nothing but his best. It eliminates any tendency to carelessness. All human workers to do their full part in their own field of usefulness should surround themselves with every safeguard.

The publicity committee of the National Association has contracted with the Accountants' Blue Book Corporation, publishers of the Accountants' Blue Book and Directory of Bonded Public Accountants for the listing of all its bonded members in this publication. The names will be listed both alphabetically and by states. The cost of listing, including a one-inch announcement space (for your ad) is $5.00, providing you arrange for this space through the Association.

This directory is in book form and your name and business card so placed will be presented before the bankers, brokers and financial houses of this country, thus placing your name before prospective clients in a way that will produce results.

BANKER'S DIRECTORY

The Association has contracted with the Polk Publishing Company for space in which to advertise to the financial world that its membership is bonded to the public and suggests that each member be listed in this publication under the city or town in which his office is located. This may be done through the Association.

If you do bank accounting or specialize in bank audits, then you should be registered in Polk's Bankers Encyclopedia. Call on your banker, ask him to show you the September, 1926, edition, then turn to pages 26 to 30 under selected list of accountants and bank auditors, see if your name is registered there; if not, don't you think it should be.

The Association verily believes that it has something of material value to offer its members. It knows that it is the pioneer in corrective enforcement and it stands as a moral force in exerting a preventive influence on its membership.

The value to you of your membership will increase in proportion as you co-operate with the other members to make effective the principles to which you have subscribed and on which the Association was founded.
