PALMER/SALLOUM TENNIS CENTER

The University of Mississippi's Palmer/Salloum Tennis Center ranks as one of the nation's finest collegiate facilities. Located in the heart of campus and surrounded by towering magnolia trees, the tennis center (completed in 1990) underwent dramatic enhancements in 2012, complementing an already stunning facility.

The $2 million expansion included improving player and coach areas with a new team building for both the men's and women's team—with locker rooms and team meeting rooms—while the existing building was renovated to include new offices for both head coaches and assistant coaches as well as visiting lockerrooms and a stringing room. Rooftop pavilions above each team building provide additional viewing for fans to enjoy all the exciting action. Additional renovations included a gameday operations box next to the pavilion between courts two and five.

A new computerized scoreboard and message center was added in 2011, along with smaller scoreboards on each court providing fans point-by-point scoring for all six courts during each match.

The complex combines the Greek revival architecture that is predominant on the Oxford campus, housing a 500-seat stadium. Courtside pavilions provide additional seating for 300, giving fans the opportunity to be right on top of the action. The varsity facility has nine championship courts all with lighting.

The Palmer/Salloum Tennis Center has served as host to SEC Championships, most recently, the 2012 SEC Women's Tennis Championship. In 2013, the facility will host the SEC Men's Tennis Championship. Other events at the Tennis Center include Women's ITA South Regional Championships, the USTA National Interscholastic Championships and numerous NCAA Men's and Women's first and second rounds, including in 2012.

Legendary Ole Miss men's head coach Billy Chadwick, who coached the Rebels for 35 years, steered the development of the center from its inception.

"Our objective was to build a state of the art tennis center that would enhance and compliment the beauty of the campus," Chadwick said. "With the renovations, it is a showplace for the University. When Palmer/Salloum was built, the objective of creating a state-of-the-art tennis center was met. The expansion is a compliment to the existing space and advances our facilities even further."

The primary benefactor of the tennis center is John N. Palmer, a 1956 alumnus of Ole Miss, who is currently the U.S. Ambassador to Portugal. He was joined in this effort by Mitchell Salloum Jr., a businessman from Gulfport, who is a 1955 alumnus of the University. The center honors the late Mitchell Salloum, Sr., a 1926 law graduate and a 1960-61 President of the Ole Miss Alumni Association. Additional funds were provided by donations to the Drive for Athletics at Ole Miss. Donors who made significant gifts toward other parts of the stadium include Louis Brandt, Jack Dunbar and William Galtney.

Galtney contributed $1 million to the renovation/expansion, and in recognition of his generous donation, the courts were named the William F. Galtney, Jr., Tennis Courts.

WILLIAM F. GALTNEY INDOOR TENNIS CENTER

The Ole Miss men's and women's tennis teams received a huge boost in January of 2018, with the opening of the 11-million dollar William F. Galtney Indoor Tennis Center.

The facility features six indoor courts with individual scoreboards on each one and a big scoreboard at the end by court six. It also features seating for 300 across all six courts allowing for maximum viewing.

The project was first announced as part of the Forward Together campaign in 2015.

The building was formally dedicated in February of 2019, with benefactor William F. Galtney present for the ribbon cutting. Galtney, a Jackson, Miss., native, attended Ole Miss, graduating in 1974 as a member of the tennis team. He went on to receive his Master's in 1976.

Ole Miss has won five SEC team titles in the last four years

2019: Men's Cross Country

Ole Miss Men's Cross Country repeated as SEC Champions in dominant fashion, recording the largest margin of victory in the SEC since 2015 with a 55-point win over Alabama. The Rebel men were ranked as high as No. 8 nationally during the year, a program-best.

2019: Women's Golf

Women's Golf won the 2019 SEC Championship in thrilling fashion, needing playoff holes in its final three matches before prevailing over South Carolina. Ole Miss went on to qualify for the NCAA Championships for the second time in as many years, finishing tied for 13th overall.

2018: Men's Cross Country

Ole Miss won the 2018 SEC Men's Cross Country title, the first in program history and the first school not named Arkansas or Alabama to win since 1990. The Rebel men went on to win the NCAA South Region title and finish 17th at the NCAA Championships, the second-best national team finish in program history.

2018: Baseball (SEC Tournament Champions)

Baseball won its third SEC Tournament title in dramatic fashion in 2018, battling back with four straight wins after falling to Auburn in the opening round. Nick Fortes was named Tournament MVP, and was one of three Rebels on the All-Tournament Team.

2017: Softball (SEC Tournament Champions)

Softball wrote and starred in its own Cinderella story in 2017, winning the SEC Tournament title as the No. 8 seed on the arm of Tournament MVP, Kaitlin Lee. Ole Miss became the lowest seed to ever make the title game, let alone win the tournament, and beat No. 1 seed Florida, No. 5 seed Alabama and No. 6 seed LSU along the way for the title.

MARK BEYERS

RUN DOWN

He's won two national championships in Division II, led teams to the SEC West Championship and NCAA Sweet Sixteen. He's coached a national champion and Honda Sports Award winner and numerous All-Americans and All-SEC players. His teams are notorious for excellence in the classroom. Mark Beyers has accomplished a lot in over 20 years as a head coach and became the all-time winningest coach in program history in 2019.

The 2020 season was shortened due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The Rebels competed in 14 matches earning a 9-5 overall record (1-3 SEC). Most notably, the team defeated No. 14 UCF on the road, 4-3. The team finished the season ranked No. 29 nationally. Off the court the Rebels were spectacular as well. Academically, the team had a perfect 4.0 GPA for the spring semester and seven team members were named ITA Scholar Athletes. Also, the Rebels made huge contributions in the community. Alexa Bortles earned the ITA Southern Region Arthur Ashe Leadership and Sportsmanship Award and Anna Vrbenska was named to the SEC Community Service Team.

While 2019 was the first time in 11 years that the Rebels did not attend the NCAA Tournament, Ole Miss still turned in notable performances. Senior Tea Jandric was named the ITA Southern Region's Most Improved Senior and was also dubbed with All-SEC Second Team recognition. Jandric went 8-1 in league play, including four ranked wins and three in a row, including taking down No. 4 Contreras of Vanderbilt. Then-sophomore Sabina Machalova was named the ITA Southern Region's Player to Watch. In the fall, Jandric reached the finals of the ITA Southern Regional, and the pair of Alexa Bortles and rookie Isolde de Jong also reached the finals, falling in a tough three-set thriller to the reigning national champions. The women ended their season with a huge upset, taking down No. 16 Texas A&M 4-2 on Senior Day.

The 2018 season was a historic one for the Rebels that ended with senior Arianne Hartono becoming the first NCAA Champion in program history. Hartono led the Rebels to their first 20-win season (22-7) since 1999, the NCAA Sweet Sixteen, the most wins in SEC play (9-4), their best finish in the SEC (5th) since 2012 and a final ranking of No. 8, the highest since 1999. Hartono capped a great team season by winning storming through the NCAA singles bracket to win the championship. In addition to winning the NCAA title, Hartono became the first player in program history to be named SEC Player of the Year as well as the first in school history to receive a Honda Sports Award (Tennis). A record five players earned All-SEC honors, with Alexa Bortles, Sabina Machalova, Tea Jandric and Anna Vrbenska joining Hartono on the teams. Beyers earned ITA Southern Region Coach of the Year honors for the third time in his career. Off the court, the Rebels posted a 3.40 grade point average and earned the ITA All-Academic Team Award for the 22nd year in a row.

Eleven SEC teams ended the 2017 season in the top 25 and 13 of the 14 made the NCAA Tournament, including the Rebels, who earned their ninth straight bid and advanced to the second round. Arianne Hartono competed in the NCAA singles and doubles with Alexa Bortles. Hartono earned All-SEC First Team honors. Ole Miss became the first No. 4 seed to advance from the ITA Kick-Off to the National Team Indoor Championships, when they beat Virginia and LSU to reach the national indoor for the first time since 2012. Off the court, the Rebels earned the prestigious ITA All-Academic Team Award for the 21st year in a row and six players were named ITA Scholar-Athletes.

In 2016, the Rebels earned their eighth straight NCAA appearance and defeated reigning NCAA Champion Stanford for the first time in program history. Julia Jones earned All-SEC second team honors. Off the court, the Rebels earned the ITA All-Academic Team Award and Caroline Rohde-Moe was named to the CoSIDA

Capital One Academic All-District Team.

They earned the program's 16th overall NCAA appearance, and junior Caroline Rohde-Moe participated in the NCAA Singles Championship as well as earned All-SEC honors for the second time. Off the court, the Rebels were one of the best, earning an APR Public Recognition Award and leading all sports at Ole Miss with a 3.64 team GPA in the spring.

In 2012, the Rebels earned their fourth straight NCAA appearance and a final national ranking of No. 18. It marked the third time in the last four years for the Rebels to end the year ranked in the Top 25. The Rebels (18-9) hosted the NCAA first and second rounds for the first time since 1999 and finished among the top four in the overall SEC standings for the second time in three years. The 18 wins are the most since the 1999 team posted 21. The Rebels also advanced to the National Team Indoor Final 16 for the first time since 2000. Kristi Boxx and Abby Guthrie earned All-America honors and were joined on the All-SEC team by Caroline Rohde-Moe and freshman Erin Stephens. Julia Jones made the All-Freshman team along with Stephens.

The Rebels enjoyed an excellent year in the classroom, earning the ITA All-Academic Team

Award for the 16th consecutive time, while three players earned ITA Scholar-Athlete recognition. Gabby Rangel was a finalist for the SEC Boyd McWhorter Scholar-Athlete Postgraduate Scholarship and received a Taylor Medal (highest academic honor at University).

Despite dealing with injuries to key players in 2011, the Rebels earned their third straight NCAA bid. Kristi Boxx earned All-SEC first team honors for the third year in a row. Connor Vogel made the second team.

Off the court, the team received the ITA All-Academic Team Award as well as earning the Chancellor's Cup for the varsity team with the highest cumulative grade point average.

Ole Miss advanced to the NCAA Sweet Sixteen for the eighth time in 2010, captured the SEC West Championship and reached the SEC tournament semifinals for the second year in a row. The Rebels ended the year ranked No. 17 in the nation, posted their best finish in the SEC (2nd) since 1999 and their best league record (8-3) since 2000. Kristi Boxx and Karen Nijssen earned All-America honors, while Boxx was one of only nine players in the nation to earn the honor in both singles and doubles. Laura van de Stroet and Connor Vogel joined Boxx and Nijssen on the All-SEC team.

Academic success continued for the Rebels as they earned the Chancellor's Cup for the women's varsity squad with the highest cumulative grade point average. They also received the ITA All-

Academic Team Award for the 14th time, while four players were named ITA Scholar-Athletes.

The Rebels ended the 2009 season ranked No. 21 in the nation and advanced to the NCAA second round. With three freshmen and two sophomores in the lineup, Ole Miss defeated five top 25 teams in league play and reached the semifinals of the SEC Tournament. Kristi Boxx and Karen Nijssen earned All-SEC honors and participated in the NCAA Doubles Championship. Boxx also made the singles championship.

Off the court, the Rebels earned the prestigious ITA All-Academic Team Award, and Gabby Rangel and Laura van de Stroet were named ITA Scholar-Athletes.

In 2008, Karen Nijssen earned All-SEC honors in her first year with the Rebels. She also teamed with Nika Koukhartchouk to participate in the NCAA Doubles Championships. The pair ended the year ranked No. 32 in the nation.

Off the court, Ole Miss garnered the ITA All-Academic Team Award for the 12th time. Two members of the team were named ITA Scholar-Athletes. For the first time ever, the team also earned the Chancellor's Cup for the highest grade point average among all women's varsity sports at Ole Miss. Preethi Subramanian was named to the Arthur Ashe Jr. Sports Scholars by the journal Diverse: Issues In Higher Education.

In 2007, senior Ilona Somers, earned All-SEC honors for the second year in a row, ended the year ranked No. 46 in the nation and qualified for the NCAA Singles Championship. In the classroom, Ole Miss received the ITA All-Academic Team Award. Four members of the team earned ITA Scholar-Athlete honors.

In 2006, Ole Miss boasted the SEC Co-Freshman of the Year, in addition to Ilona Somers making the All-SEC second team. Off the court, the Lady Rebels received the distinction of being named an ITA All-Academic team. Also, the entire starting lineup earned ITA Scholar-Athlete honors, believed to be not matched by any other squad in the country.

The 2005 season saw the Rebels capture the SEC Western Division Championship for the first time. In addition, the team made its 11th NCAA Championship appearance. Chloe Carlotti became the seventh All-American in the history of the program and joined an elite group of Division I players to earn that distinction at multiple schools. Carlotti and Virginia Tomatis earned All-SEC honors after going 8-3 in the league at No. 1 doubles.

The 2004 season saw the Lady Rebels narrowly miss making the NCAA Team Championships, but there were plenty of highlights to be noted. Chloe Carlotti and Virginia Tomatis teamed up to post an 8-3 record in the SEC at No. 1 doubles and earn

In 2003, current University of Wisconsin assistant coach Mira Radu completed an outstanding career by being named the NCAA Woman of the Year for the state of Mississippi.

Radu earned All-America honors for the second consecutive year as well as All-SEC accolades. Radu finished her senior year ranked No. 18 in the nation and reached the quarterfinals of the NCAA Singles Championships. The winner of the 2003 ITA South Region Cissie Leary Award for Sportsmanship, Radu became only the fourth Lady Rebel ever to record 100 wins for her career, finishing with a 108-52 career record. Radu was also the co-recipient of the Eugenia Conner Memorial Award, which is given to the most outstanding female athlete on the Ole Miss campus each spring.

Off the court in the 2003, the Lady Rebels earned the ITA All-Academic Team Award. Radu made the SEC Academic Honor Roll, and Florencia Basile, Karem Harboe and Virginia Tomatis were named ITA Scholar Athletes.

During his first season (2002) at the helm, Beyers guided the Lady Rebels to their seventh consecutive NCAA appearance and a final national ranking of No. 35. He also coached Mira Radu to All-America and All-SEC honors. Radu ended the year ranked among the top 20 singles players. Radu and 2002 graduate Camilla Gould earned the ITA Scholar-Athlete Award, while the squad was named an ITA All-Academic Team.

No stranger to women's tennis, Beyers, a native of Tilburg, Holland, spent three years (1992-95) as head coach of the women's tennis team at Armstrong Atlantic State in Georgia. During his three years, the team captured the NCAA Division II Championship, posted a 50-8 record and won the Peach Belt Conference each year. Beyers earned PBC Coach-of-the-Year honors in 1993, 1994 and 1995. In 1995, he received NCAA Division II South Regional Coach-of-the-Year honors. His teams ranked 10th, ninth and first respectively in the Division II national rankings.

Beyers came to Ole Miss in the fall of 1995 as the men's assistant coach. In his six years as an assistant coach with the Rebels, Ole Miss reached the final four twice (1997, 1999) and won three SEC titles (1996, 1997, 1999). In 1997, Beyers was the first recipient of the ITA Region III Assistant Coach-of-the-Year Award.

During his 25 years of coaching collegiate tennis as an assistant and head coach, Beyers has coached 25 All-Americans, 47 ITA Scholar-Athletes and 20 teams that have received the ITA All-Academic Team Award.

As a collegiate player at Armstrong Atlantic State, Beyers earned four letters, posted a 99-21 record and led his team to a national ranking of No. 4. He earned All-America honors twice in doubles and singles.

Beyers received a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science from Armstrong Atlantic State in 1991. After graduating, Beyers enjoyed a brief professional career on the satellite tour before returning to his alma mater to coach the women's team.

In 1998, Beyers became the youngest person ever to be inducted into the Armstrong Atlantic State Athletic Hall of Fame. In 2016, he was selected as one of 75 notable alumni for Armstrong Atlantic University's 75th anniversary.

In July of 2005, Beyers married the former Lauren Dorcheus. The couple resides in Oxford.

In his second season in 2019, Roberts helped guide senior Tea Jandric to the ITA Southern Region's Most Improved Senior and was also dubbed with All-SEC Second Team recognition. Jandric went 8-1 in league play, including four ranked wins and three in a row, including taking down No. 4 Contreras of Vanderbilt. Then-sophomore Sabina Machalova was named the ITA Southern Region's Player to Watch. In the fall, Jandric reached the finals of the ITA Southern Regional, and the pair of Alexa Bortles and rookie Isolde de Jong also reached the finals, falling in a tough three-set thriller to the reigning national champions. The women ended their season with a huge upset, taking down No. 16 Texas A&M 4-2 on Senior Day.

In his first season, Roberts assisted head coach Mark Beyers in leading the Rebels to their first 20-win season (22-7) since 1999, the NCAA Sweet Sixteen, the most wins in SEC play (9-4), their best finish in the SEC (5th) since 2012 and a final ranking of No. 8, the highest since 1999. Roberts was on senior Arianne Hartono's court when she made a historic run to the NCAA Singles Championship, becoming the first NCAA Champion in program history. He also helped coach All-SEC honorees Alexa Bortles, Sabina Machalova, Tea Jandric and Anna Vrbenska.

Roberts arrived in Oxford after serving as the women's assistant coach at Colorado. Prior to that, he was a volunteer assistant coach for the men's team at the University of Kentucky for three years.

He helped the Wildcats reach the semifinals of the NCAA Tournament in 2014 where the team finished 13th overall in the country. Roberts worked with ITA Ohio Valley Region Player to Watch, William Bushamuka who became a first-team All-SEC selection and a first team All-American in 2017. Roberts also worked with SEC Co-Freshman of the Year, Ryotaro Matsumura in 2016. Matsumura also earned ITA Ohio Valley Region Rookie of the Year honors and was named to the All-SEC second team. Roberts was a standout player at Kentucky. Despite battling injuries, he helped lead the Wildcats to the 2012 SEC Championship and the NCAA Sweet 16 three times, including the quarterfinals in 2010. Roberts is Kentucky's all-time leader in matches clinched.

In the classroom, Roberts was named to the SEC Academic Honor Roll three straight years.

Roberts earned his bachelor's degree in communications at the University of Kentucky in 2014.
