

Management Services: A Magazine of Planning, Systems, and Controls

Volume 1 | Number 2

Article 2

5-1964

About the Authors

American Institute of Certified Public Accountants

Follow this and additional works at: <https://egrove.olemiss.edu/mgmtservices>

Part of the Accounting Commons

Recommended Citation

American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (1964) "About the Authors," Management Services: A Magazine of Planning, Systems, and Controls: Vol. 1: No. 2, Article 2.

Available at: <https://egrove.olemiss.edu/mgmtservices/vol1/iss2/2>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by eGrove. It has been accepted for inclusion in Management Services: A Magazine of Planning, Systems, and Controls by an authorized editor of eGrove. For more information, please contact egrove@olemiss.edu.

about the authors

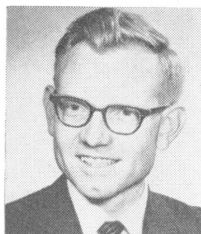

DON T. DECOSTER, Ph.D., CPA, is assistant professor at the University of Washington, Seattle. Dr. DeCoster is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the American Accounting Association, the National Association of Accountants and of Beta Alpha Psi.

ROBERT K. JAEDICKE, Ph.D., is associate professor of accounting at the Graduate School of Business of Stanford University. Professor Jaedicke, author of numerous articles in the field of management, was awarded the Lybrand Gold Medal Award for Best Manuscript by the National Association of Accountants in 1961. He is a member of the American Accounting Association and the National Association of Accountants.

JAY M. SMITH, JR., CPA, is now a faculty member at Stanford University and has been appointed an associate professor at the University of Minnesota. Mr. Smith formerly has been a senior auditor for the firm of Arthur Andersen & Co., and has taught courses in accounting at Stanford University and at Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah. He is a member of the Institute of Management Services and the American Accounting Association.

CLARK SLOAT, CPA, is a partner of Price Waterhouse & Co. in New York City, where he has worked in management advisory services since 1951. He has been a member of the firm since 1935 except for a period of war service when he was assistant director, Fiscal Division, Office of the Surgeon General, U. S. Army. Mr. Sloat is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and has contributed to numerous professional and business publications.

ARTHUR B. TOAN, JR., CPA, is partner in charge of management advisory services at Price Waterhouse & Co., New York City. Mr. Toan is a member of the AICPA management services committee and was formerly chairman of the committee on electronic accounting. He is also a member of the Society for the Advancement of Management and is on the planning council of the American Management Association.

BRUCE R. CARLSON is vice president, corporate planning and systems, of Sprague Electric Company in North Adams, Massachusetts. He is a member of the American Statistical Association and the Operations Research Society of America and serves on several committees of the Electronic Industries Association. Part of the material incorporated in this article is based on a talk given by Mr. Carlson before a meeting of the Instrument Society of America, held in Pittsburgh, Pa., in the fall of 1963.

RICHARD E. SPRAGUE is principal director in advanced business systems at Touche, Ross, Bailey & Smart in New York City. He is a member of the Institute of Management Sciences and the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers, Inc., and represents his firm on the Management Information Systems Roundtable of the AMA and on the Electronics Committee for the Retail Research Institute.

EDWIN T. BOYLE, CPA, is an individual practitioner in Hackensack, New Jersey. Mr. Boyle is a member of Council and the management services committee of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, and was formerly the president of the New Jersey State Society of CPAs.