

University of Mississippi

eGrove

University of Mississippi News

11-1-2014

29 Days of Thanks

Christina Steube

Follow this and additional works at: <https://egrove.olemiss.edu/umnews>

Recommended Citation

Steube, Christina, "29 Days of Thanks" (2014). University of Mississippi News. 47.
<https://egrove.olemiss.edu/umnews/47>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by eGrove. It has been accepted for inclusion in University of Mississippi News by an authorized administrator of eGrove. For more information, please contact egrove@olemiss.edu.

29 Days of Thanks

Day 1: School Pride

NOVEMBER 1, 2014 BY CHRISTINA STEUBE

FaTvLiErCoSMPrSt

It's the time of year that we all come together to be thankful for what we have in our lives. If you're associated with the University of Mississippi in any way, you have plenty to be thankful for. Over the next 29 days, we'll share what we're most thankful for at this great university.

Day 1: School Pride

Members of the Ole Miss family have a sense of pride that I haven't seen surrounding any other institution of higher learning.

Whether it's about our athletics or academic accomplishments, members of the Ole Miss family are invested. "All in," if you will.

From getting chills (or in my case, tears) during a university television commercial to the range of emotions we all experience during any given athletics event (you know what I'm talking about), we love every part of our university.

Most of us can't stop talking about "my school." I will literally talk to anyone who will listen about everything Ole Miss. And I own what feels like hundreds of Ole Miss T-shirts. I know I'm not the only one.

Our marching band is called "The Pride of the South," but alumni, students and fans make that much more than a name.

We're proud. A degree from Ole Miss means more. The experience at Ole Miss means more. Our love for Ole Miss means more.

I hope that people who have attended other universities have a fraction of the pride that we all do about Ole Miss. Otherwise, they're really missing out.

So on this first day of November, we're thankful that we have a university we can be proud of and call home.

Fall has come to Ole Miss. Photo by UM Photographer Kevin Bain

Follow us on social

FaTvLiErCoSMPrSt

Campus Briefs

Students Learn 'Real Politics' in Washington, D.C., Winter Session

OXFORD, Miss. – Eleven University of Mississippi students spent their winter break learning about the people who work behind the scenes of the American government in Washington, D.C. Lead by Jonathan Klingler, assistant professor of political science, the students of Pol 391: Applied Politics met not with candidates, but with the people who make candidates'

Read the story ...

More Posts from this Category

Thank You To Our Donors

Young Alumna Gives Back to School of Accountancy

OXFORD, Miss. – Stephanie Jennings Teague, of Chicago, sees her commitment of $100,000 to the Patterson School of Accountancy's new building at the University of Mississippi as a means of saying "thank you." "It is a way to show a small token of my appreciation to Ole Miss, the faculty and staff, and the accounting

Read the story ...

More Posts from this Category

Ole Miss In the News

Reuters: Keep an Eye on the Money Supply

U.S. inflation roller coaster prompts fresh look at long-ignored money supply By Michael S. Derby NEW YORK – The amount of money sloshing around the U.S. economy shrank last year for the first time on record, a development that some economists believe bolsters the case for U.S. inflation pressures continuing to abate. The Federal Reserve's

FILED UNDER: OLE MISS NEWS BLOG

Read the story ...

More Posts from this Category

Return to top of page

Copyright © 2023 · The University of Mississippi