

University of Mississippi

eGrove

---

Touche Ross Publications

Deloitte Collection

---

1961

Open door

John A. Wilson

Follow this and additional works at: https://egrove.olemiss.edu/dl\_tr

Part of the Accounting Commons, and the Taxation Commons

---

Recommended Citation

Quarterly, Vol. 07, no. 2 (1961, June), p. 01

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Deloitte Collection at eGrove. It has been accepted for inclusion in Touche Ross Publications by an authorized administrator of eGrove. For more information, please contact egrove@olemiss.edu.

JOHN A. WILSON JOINED THE STAFF of George A. Touche & Co. (now Touche, Ross, Bailey & Smart) Canada in 1928; became a member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario in 1933 and was made a partner in 1943. He has been active in Institute affairs as president of the Ontario Institute in 1950, and currently as president of The Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants.

Mr. Wilson represented The Canadian Institute at the Golden Jubilee of the New Zealand Association of Accountants in the spring of 1960; also at the Asian and Pacific Conference of Accounting held in Australia, April 1960. He delivered two papers there, one on Independence in Public Practice and the other on Punched Card and Electronic Data Processing. He also had the honor of speaking not only on behalf of the Canadian Institute but on behalf of the accounting delegates from other countries.

He served as Governor of the Canadian Tax Foundation, an organization sponsored by The Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants and the Bar Association and was Chairman of the Board of Governors in 1956.

Mr. Wilson is chairman of the International Committee of TROBAS.

THE OPEN DOOR

AN ANNOUNCEMENT HAS RECENTLY GONE OUT TO CLIENTS from which it may be seen that the international group of Touche, Ross, Bailey & Smart is now established in 95 offices in 21 countries throughout the world. Visits to our offices by accountants from other countries are occurring more frequently. It is apparent that we are truly international.

You may ask, what does this signify to a manager, supervisor or senior submerged in his daily problems of satisfying the demands of clients? Is this a source from which he may derive satisfaction and comfort?

In the professional practice of accountancy, the rewards quite often go to those persons who have managed to acquire not only technical knowledge but depth in understanding of business, finance, and world affairs. An appreciation of what other people and other countries are doing is necessary if a proper balance is to be maintained in developing ideas, theories and techniques.

Our international organization has opened the door to important sources of information relating to these other countries and their business worlds. The boundaries for success have been moved beyond the scope of any one country and now circle the globe. A knowledge of another language may suddenly turn into a valuable asset.

Far from being at the bottom of the list is the satisfaction of knowing that you are part of an organization which is looking to the future in shaping its plans and is building something which, in turn, may enhance your future prospects. It is gratifying to know that the name of your firm is recognized in many of the important countries of the world and that the financial statements you have helped produce will be accepted in these various countries due to the reputation and good name of the firm having been established beforehand.

When you write that paper for The Quarterly it will be with the knowledge that your experience is being made available virtually around the world and in return you will hope to gain by the experience of those people in other countries. The need for an exchange of accounting and business experience throughout the world is great. You will now have an opportunity of participating in it.

