July 13th 1918.

My dearest Mother,

I another day and
just a line on
my part to let you know I am
all O.K. Believe you
me, we are having
some rainy weather
here. But a little rain this time
of the year is
all Jack. This winter it will
be a different
story.

I think possibly
part of the officers
will soon be
transferred to form
a new regiment
of Artillery. I believe I will get to go in the new batch. I also believe our Major
will then be
a colonel and
probably Capt Robbins
will be made
a Major to take his place.

I hope the
change will
not be made
until the first
of Sept for by
then I will have more chevrons
for service coming.
Had some red
biscuits to-day
made by our
cook. They were fine and about
as big as a
cup. Yesterday while we were working

on our position,
two frenchmen came
by with confectionery
and I dismissed
the platoon long
enough to buy
them out so we have had
good eating to-day.

I am thrown
more intimately
with my men
than ever before
as we all sleep
just behind the
the guns. They are a good bunch.

Also very good
workers. Last night
was up twice
aroused by gas
alarms but
no gas came to us. We have
masks, oil cloth
suits, hats gloves
so that we
look like stuffed
monkeys or querillas.

It is now
8 ^(P.M.) p.m. and I can glance up

to see a beautiful
sun set after
a rainy day.

Yesterday ~~we~~
I had many rainbows
so we are lucky
as that is our
name. (Rainbow div)

The men are all
sitting around
talking about
the shelling we
got back in
the other sector.

It is great to
listen to them talk.

I am sending
to - night to
sister a birth
day present of
handkerchiefs that
I got about ten days ago. Hope
they arrive all OK,
Much love to each
and every one.

Your devoted son
Boyce
