

University of Mississippi

eGrove

Touche Ross Publications

Deloitte Collection

1963

Faces in the news

Anonymous

Follow this and additional works at: https://egrove.olemiss.edu/dl_tr

Part of the Accounting Commons, and the Taxation Commons

Recommended Citation

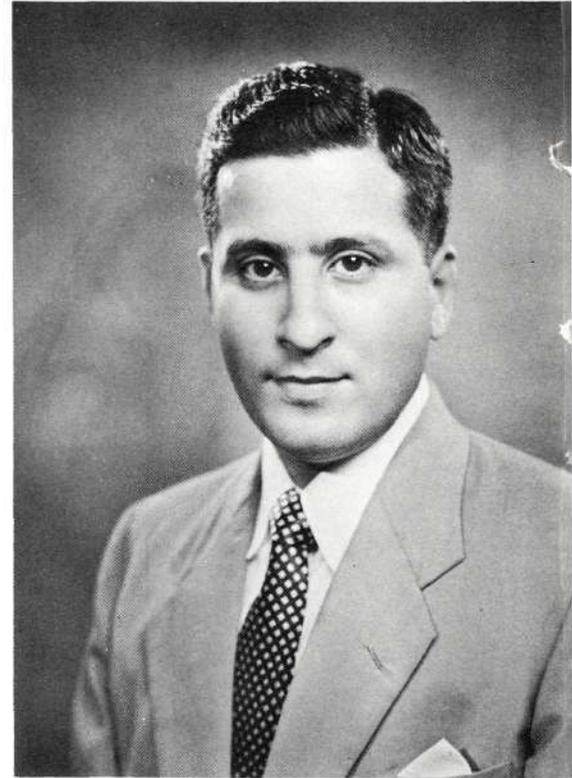

Quarterly, Vol. 09, no. 4 (1963, December), p. 40-41

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Deloitte Collection at eGrove. It has been accepted for inclusion in Touche Ross Publications by an authorized administrator of eGrove. For more information, please contact egrove@olemiss.edu.

Robert Trueblood (left) Partner-In-Charge in Chicago, received the outstanding achievement award given by the School of Business Administration, University of Minnesota. After receiving a Gold Medal and Citation, he talks with Charles T. McGarrough, president of the School's Alumni Association (center) and Dean Paul V. Grambsch.

Faces in

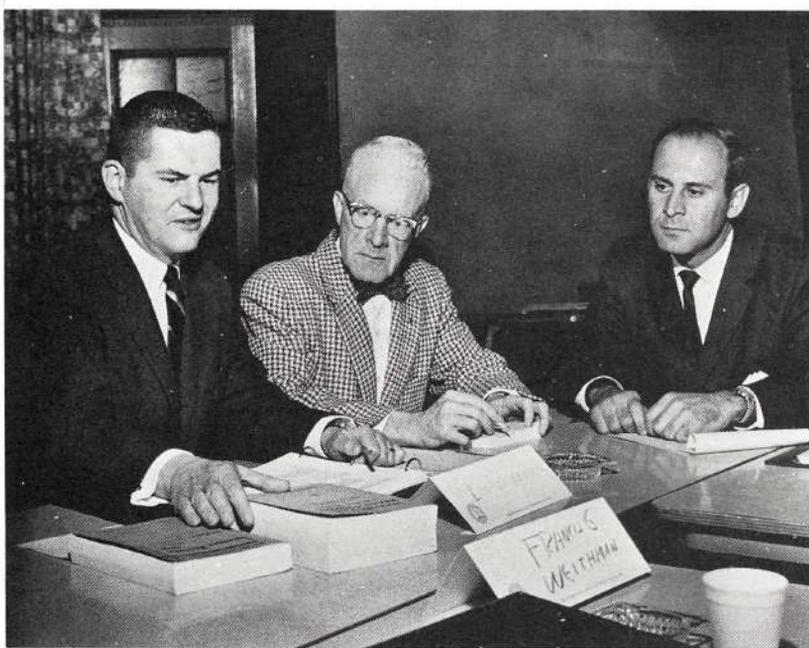

Luis Leite (left) from our office in São Paulo bids farewell to Jim Johnston, International Secretariat. Mr. Leite was returning to Brazil after a one and a half year training program in management services in New York.

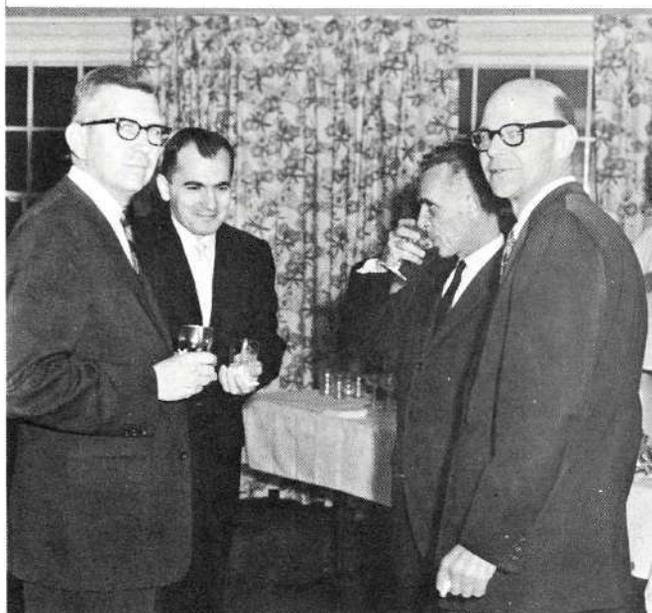

the News

Dr. Rusi Cooper, managing partner of Touche, Ross, Bailey & Smart in Bombay, has been unanimously elected president of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India for 1963-64. He joined the Central Council of the Institute in 1958 and was vice president for 1962-63. A director of several Public Companies in Bombay, he is also a member of the Managing Committee of Indian Merchants' Chamber. Dr. Cooper specializes in management services and taxation.

Louis A. Werbaneth, (left) Partner-In-Charge in our Pittsburgh office, was discussion leader when the Erie Chapter of the Pennsylvania Institute of CPAs conducted a seminar at Gannon College on "Problems of the Closely-Held Corporation." Participants from other firms were Paul L. Quimby (center) and Joseph L. Bressan.

The Pittsburgh office was host to a dinner for the accounting faculty at the Pennsylvania State University on October 22. The subject of discussion was accounting education. Shown here from left to right are Donald H. Cramer from the Executive office; William Farrara, associate professor of accounting; Richard M. Colwell, professor of accounting; Ossian MacKensie, dean; Carman G. Blough, visiting professor of accounting; Alan D. Henderson and Louis Werbaneth of the Pittsburgh office.

King Baudouin of Belgium (left) is shown with Maurice J. Anspach, (center) who is charge of our office in Brussels. The occasion was a visit to the slate mine of Warmifontaine, one of the largest in Belgium.