GUESS WHO CONTEST NUMBER TEN

Contest Number Nine was apparently of moderate difficulty as there were only a few members who correctly identified the photo of Basil S. Yamey. Basil S. Yamey is a faculty member at the London School of Economics and a Life Member of the Academy of Accounting Historians. The first non-North American to identify Mr. Yamey was Ernest Stevelinck of Belgium. Stevelinck called Yamey the best accounting historian of the second part of the twentieth century (he categorized Raymond de Roover as the best historian of the first half of the century).

Guess Who?

The prize-winning entry from North America was submitted by Sidney Davidson, the Arthur Young Distinguished Service Professor at the University of Chicago. Terry Sheldahl of Savannah, Georgia, also correctly identified the photo of Yamey. Sheldahl has submitted correct entries in eight of the first nine Guess Who Contests.

Now, on to Contest No. 10. The picture in this issue is of an American member of the Academy of Accounting Historians. The young individual in the picture has authored several books and many articles. The photo was taken during the 1950's.

If you are the first to send in the correct identification, you will receive a valuable prize. The prize is a copy of the Academy's Monograph No. 4, entitled Selected Papers from the Charles Waldo Haskins Accounting History Seminars. This monograph normally sells for $15.

As in past contests, there will actually be two prizes awarded—one for the first correct entry from North America and one for the first correct entry postmarked outside of North America. This policy allows for the delay in the mail service of foreign members. Officers and trustees of the Academy are encouraged to participate, but are not eligible for prizes. Put on your thinking caps and send your entry to Dale L. Flesher at the editorial address.
