Dear Jim:

Will you please serve, along with Vernon Carstensen (whom I have invited to be chairman) of the Association's auditing committee. I understand that, except in times of stress and strain, such as we had recently during a period of speculation, service on this committee requires very little time and no great talent: though admittedly you have much of the latter.

Please let me know if you can accept this assignment.

Faithfully,

Wendell H. Stephenson

Jim: Pardon the formality, or lack of it. I haven't had the privilege of seeing you and "Dutch" for years. I get homesick for some Southerness.
