Dear Mr. Silvers:

I read with interest your article, "The Hardware Producers Come of Age," in the recent issue of the Journal of Southern History, and because of it am writing to ask if you would consider reviewing, in a dual review, two books on midwestern lumbering history.

They are: The Daniel Shaw Lumber Company, by A. R. Reynolds; and Lumberman from Flint, by Martin D. Lewis. What we'd like is about 250 to 300 words on each book, with a deadline of July 15th.

If you can conveniently do this for us I'll have the two books sent you immediately on receiving your reply.

Sincerely yours,

William C. Haygood
