Dear Mr. Meredith,
~~My husband and I thought~~ we would write to let you know how much we admire your tremendous courage in becoming the center of this horrible situation that is the center of conversation everywhere where thinking people converse.
You have a courage much deeper, in our opinion, than that displayed in battle by medal winners, since it is not spur-of-the-moment bravery but premeditated risking of your life, as we well realize as much as you do.
I am sure you know that not only is the armed might of the Federal Government behind you, but also the hearts of most of the common people are with you in your adventure in doing this most necessary action.

We wish that you achieve what you wish in life as the result of your endeavors, and thank you for helping to make this a better country for our children to have faith in.

Yours sincerely

Clarence G. and Hilary G. Chow
