TWENTY-SECOND ANNIVERSARY

THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS

TO BE HELD IN DENVER, OCTOBER 19, 20, 21, 1909

OFFICE OF
CHAIRMAN TRANSPORTATION COMMITTEE
J. B. GEIJSBEEK
806 EQUITABLE BUILDING

DENVER, COLORADO May 24th, 1909.

My Dear Professional Brother:

To Denver---October 19th to 21st---To Denver.
Remember the date and do not forget the place. Mark them in your engagement calendar and earmark them with red ink "Important." "Do not permit interference or alterations."

These are the dates of your vacation and your tent is pitched in Denver. The way for a business man to get a good vacation is to suddenly "drop everything," "skip out" and "disappear" for a while. I have tried it. It is the only way. It works successfully. You try it, and you will be surprised to find upon your return that "no one missed you," "nothing important transpired," "no one asked for you," and you have learned the valuable lesson that the world, and even your own business, gets along without you.

Denver and our Colorado Society is preparing in true Western style to receive and entertain you. It will be the greatest, largest attended and best educational convention that ever was held by the Public Accountants of all America. You must not fail to be there. Even if you are not elected a delegate, it is your duty to yourself as well as to your business and your brother in the profession to be in Denver. It is your duty by your presence to give dignity to the meeting; to swell the numbers and to show the public the growth of our profession. But better than all this, it is your duty to take part in the important discussions which will be had and enlarge the usefulness of the profession at large and your own knowledge in particular. An important subject will come up at the meeting and old conventional rules will be broken and plenty of time provided for full discussion by all present.

Besides all this, as a vacation for you it will be a record breaker. Pleasure and education will be combined. The great West, and especially Colorado, is remarkably adapted for a combination of these two. Descriptions of these two possibilities will reach you from time to time. Full programs will also come your way in due course. Particulars as to the special train service and reduced rates will be announced as soon as perfected.

This letter is simply a reminder to you of the dates and place and our earnest request that you do not permit another vacation trip or outing to overshadow this one. We want you in Denver, and we want you to know it.

To Denver---October 19th to 21st---to Denver.

Fraternally yours,

J. B. Geijsbeek
