

University of Mississippi

eGrove

Touche Ross Publications

Deloitte Collection

1968

Faces in the news

Anonymous

Follow this and additional works at: https://egrove.olemiss.edu/dl_tr

Part of the Accounting Commons, and the Taxation Commons

Recommended Citation

Tempo, Vol. 14, no. 2 (1968, June), p. 53-56

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Deloitte Collection at eGrove. It has been accepted for inclusion in Touche Ross Publications by an authorized administrator of eGrove. For more information, please contact egrove@olemiss.edu.

Faces in the News

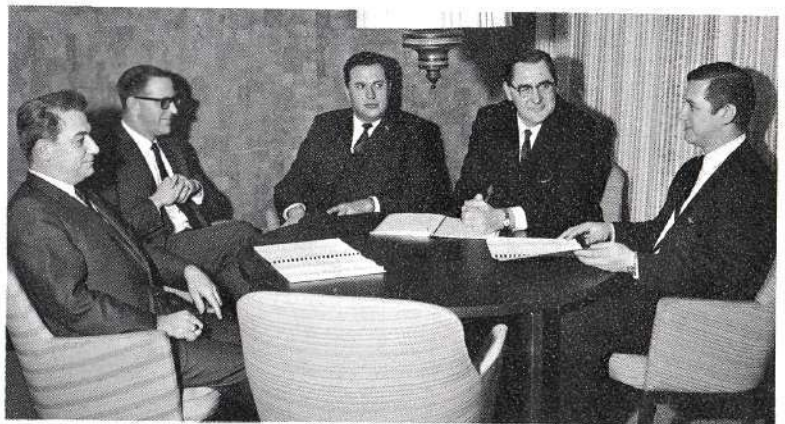

A new information service for international clients has been developed by the International Coordinating Office. The first presentation was made by New York partner Bernard J. Cianca (third from left) to Studebaker Worthington's vice president of finance Leslie T. Welsh; vice president and comptroller Raymond E. Young; and president Frank J. Nunlist. The service includes a series of concise "Executive Digests" on conducting business in individual countries, a group of larger and more detailed "Business Studies" and a bi-monthly newsletter.

The first of this series will be available for general distribution shortly.

The official count of presidential ballots in Panama's May election was conducted by our Panama office. Touche Ross partner Francisco R. Young (far right) is pictured with members of the National Board of Elections as they started the tally, with Jorge Almillategui, Touche Ross manager, seated at his left.

When U.S. Industries acquired Big Dutchman, Touche Ross was on hand to coordinate accounting matters. Attending a conference in the Grand Rapids office were Gordon L. Kauffman, partner-in-charge; J. van Thuijl, partner in 'sGravenhage, Netherlands; A. van Reyn, controller, Big Dutchman (International) A. G., Wezep, Netherlands; Leonard Reuther, financial vice president, U. S. Industries, Inc., Chicago; and George Erwood, vice president-finance, Big Dutchman, Inc., Zeeland, Michigan.

Ohio State University received a $1,500 open-end grant from Touche Ross in May. Pictured at the presentation are Marion Dawson, manager in the Cleveland office; Curtis Stanley, director of the OSU "master of accounting" program; Frank Rieser, partner in Dayton, (making the presentation); Elzy V. McCollough, chairman of the OSU accounting department, and Dane Charles, manager in Dayton.

New and innovative approaches to training methods were the subject of discussion at a recent meeting of the U.S.A. firm's newly appointed Advisory Committee for Education. National director of education Ernest Pavlock (speaking at head of table) is flanked by (clockwise) James I. Johnston from the International Coordinating Office; Ralph E. Walters from San Francisco; the Executive Office's Don C. Edmonson from Detroit; Henry C. Korff and Roy C. Wetterhall from New York; and Russell Palmer from Philadelphia. (Daniel Kelly from Detroit and Raymond Perry from Chicago are not shown.)

Robert M. Benjamin, partner in Seattle, (center) was chairman of the Northwest Graduate Accounting Study Conference held in Olympia, Washington. Speakers at the conference were (from left) Professor Robert T. Sprouse, Stanford University; Walter Mickelsen, chief accountant, Division of Corporate Finance, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D. C.; Dudley E. Browne, group vice president, Lockheed Aircraft Corporation; and L. H. Penney, past president, American Institute of CPA's.

The city of Rockford, Illinois has engaged Touche Ross to redesign its accounting and information systems. At a planning session, Harold Caswell, superintendent of the division of local government affairs and property taxes; Benjamin Schleicher, Mayor of the City of Rockford; and director Theodore A. Jones of the Department of Revenue; met with Harold Wright (Touche Ross, Chicago).

The United States Touche Ross partners-in-charge meeting was held in Oakbrook, Illinois in May. International representatives included Bruno Gimpel, Italy; Robert Frost, Australia, Antonio Otero, Puerto Rico; William Brace, Canada; Antonio Galaz, Mexico; Eric Newman, Canada; and John Blacket, Australia.

The expansion of Touche Ross international consulting operations was a prime topic of discussion at the Management Services Administrative Committee meeting in Chicago. Shown during the coffee break are Frank Tranzow, Kansas City partner; Kenneth R. Oswell, partner in Toronto; Christopher Sansom, United Kingdom's national director of computer systems; and Michael J. Blackburn, national M.S. director in the U.K.