DEAR SIR:—

The attention of every member of the New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants is directed to the accompanying official announcement of the annual meeting of the American Association of Public Accountants and to its program of proceedings on October 23, 24 and 25, next, at Columbus, Ohio.

The New York State Society is the largest constituent Society of professional accountants in the American Association, and every consideration invites to a large representation from its ranks to the annual gathering of accountants, which provides the opportunity of meeting in a professional and social way our associates in accountancy from all parts of the United States. You are therefore urged to be present, if you can so arrange it, as the occasion will doubtless be a pleasure to those who participate in it.

Our esteemed fellow-member Elijah W. Sells, 30 Broad St., N. Y., (Telephone number 6030 Broad) has been appointed to arrange transportation, etc., and to supply information concerning it, to those who so desire, from the New York and New Jersey Societies.

To ensure adequate representation of our own Society at this Annual meeting, the following named members were elected delegates and alternates, at our June meeting, and are empowered to cast at least 120 votes for the New York State Society in the formal proceedings:
