FACES IN THE NEWS

Robert M. Trueblood was awarded the AICPA Distinguished Service Medal for 1971. Shown at a reception in his honor given at the AICPA Annual Meeting by the Pennsylvania Institute of CPAs is Mr. Trueblood with Mrs. Trueblood, and Mr. and Mrs. Williard Heintzelman. Mr. Heintzelman is executive director of the Pennsylvania Institute of CPAs. Mr. Trueblood is chairman of the board at Touche Ross.

New Assistant Secretary of the Interior Richard S. Bodman and Mrs. Bodman look on as Secretary of the Interior Rogers C.B. Morton shakes hands with sons Jimmy and Taylor at a reception following the swearing in ceremony. Mr. Bodman is a former Touche Ross partner from San Francisco.

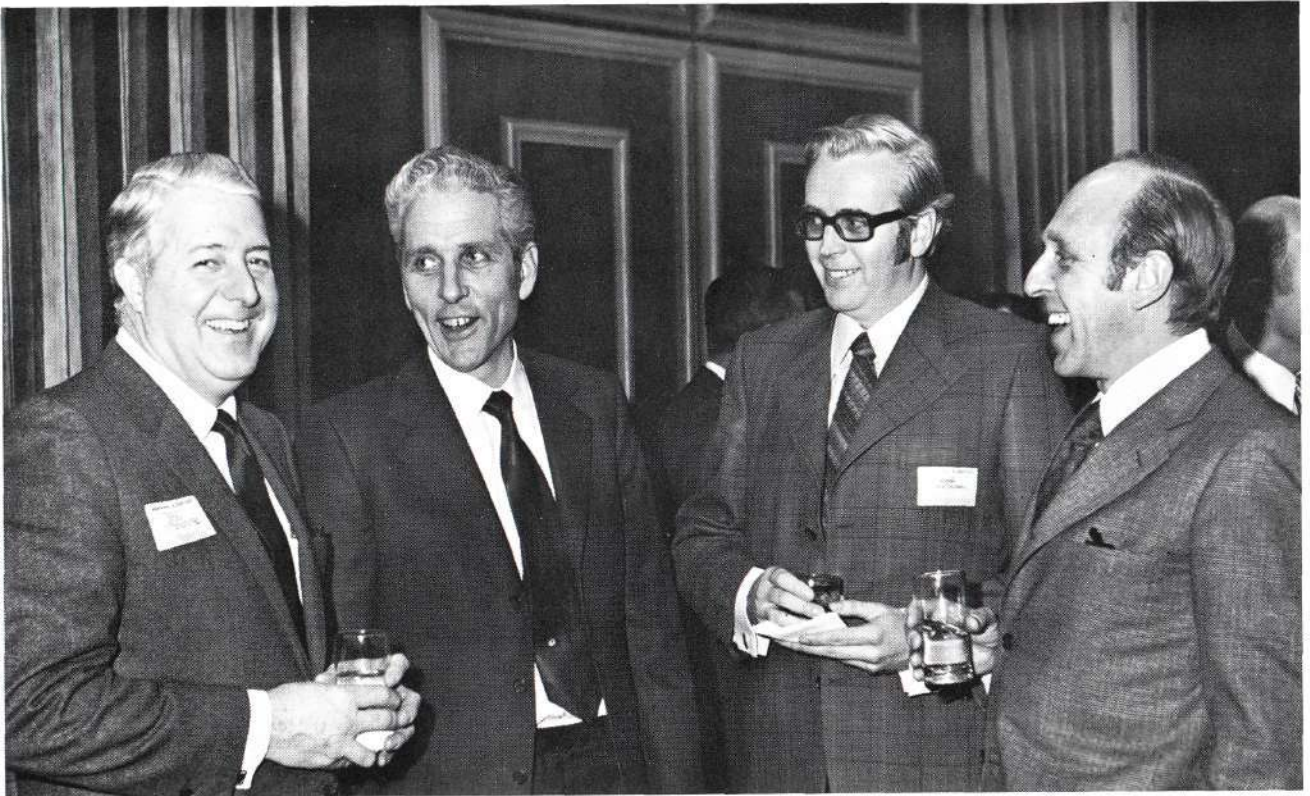

The State of Georgia Reorganization Study results were approved by the state for inclusion in the total reorganization legislative package. Touche Ross in Atlanta participated in the project on a voluntary basis; our assignment was an analysis of state revenue receiving and processing methods. Pictured here at a progress meeting at the Governor's Mansion are: Thomas Linder, State of Georgia Project Manager; Mrs. Jimmy Carter; Fred Nichols, Touche Ross partner in charge in Atlanta; Governor Jimmy Carter; and Thomas Kelley, Touche Ross.

Lynn Townsend receives the insigne of Chevalier de la Legion d'Honneur in Paris on behalf of the government of France, from Francois-Xavier Ortoli, French minister for industrial and scientific development. Mr. Townsend, chairman and chief executive officer of Chrysler Corporation, was formerly a Touche Ross partner in the Detroit office.

The president of Zenith Radio Corporation, John Nevin, was guest speaker at a recent management services meeting at the Touche Ross office in Chicago. Shown here are Donald Jennings, Touche Ross national director of management services; Mr. Nevin; Barry McDougall, P.S. Ross in Ottawa; and James Seitz, national director of operations, management services.

The Touche Ross International Advisory Committee met in London to discuss some of the larger international engagements and to plan the agenda for the next International Committee Meeting. Representatives from all the member firms will attend the meeting in Spain this May. Pictured here are James Johnston, International Executive Office; Peter Davidson, Australia; Francisco Young, Panama; Paul Hamman, International Executive Office; Ermengildo Snozzi, France; and Alberto Lopez, Argentina.
