Dear Jim:

My plans for a winter trip to the South are shaping up, and it looks now as if I'll be coming to Ole Miss about January 16 or 17. Margaret and the children are going to make this junket with me, and in all probability we'll be traveling with a rented house trailer.

How do these dates fit into your schedule?

I'd like very much to explore the possibilities of staging our annual Board meeting at Ole Miss this coming June. We've never before had an annual meeting in the South, and this might be the best year to do it since the Hickman book is coming out and we'll have something concrete to show in the way of accomplishment. I'd like our Board members to see the Lumber Archives, too.

Please let me know what you think of this. I think I'll hold off writing to anyone else at Ole Miss concerning this plan until I've had word from you. My recent experience in trying to deal with John Moore by correspondence leaves me a bit uncertain about launching any plans that depend on him. He has still not answered my last letter having to do with the Hickman book.

All the best to you and Dutch.

Cordially,

Woody
