out as soon as possible on the website, and that it is characteristic of the ad hoc nature of Academy processes that this happens haphazardly. Flesher asked if the ice cream social would indeed be planned for the AAA confer ence and Tiffany Welch replied that it would.

The meeting adjourned at 2:15PM.

Respectfully submitted, wide-ranging interests inspired Yeakel, whose own interests were also varied.

Now retired and still living in Albuquerque with his wife Deborah, Yeakel has contacts with innumerable former students, many now in prominent positions. "That kind of knowledge of an area only happens if you stay in one place for a long time," remarked

Yeakel. "It was a very satisfying career, no two ways about it."

Yeakel emphasized that his contribution to the Academy is intended to inspire other donors. "I hope everybody else will feel guilty," he laughed. Accounting history is important, Yeakel believes, and a general endowment to the Academy is especially important in furthering the discipline.

This international forum is designed for emerging scholars of all ages and career stages, including doctoral degree students, new faculty and other emerging accounting researchers who have an interest in accounting's past and present and who seek directions and guidance in embarking upon and undertaking specific historical accounting research projects.

The inaugural forum will be held at the Certosa di Pontignano of the University of Siena which is located in Pontignano in Tuscany and is only a short distance from Siena. The forum will be led by Garry Carnegie and Brian West of the University of Ballarat, Australia who are the joint editors of Accounting History, the journal of the Accounting History Special Interest Group of the Accounting and Finance Association of Australia and New Zealand.

Other senior faculty members participating in the colloquium are also members of the Accounting History editorial team and will include Angelo Riccaboni, University of Siena, Italy; Nola Buhr, University of Saskatchewan, Canada; Christopher Napier, Royal Holloway, University of London, UK and Lúcia Lima Rodrigues, University of Minho, Portugal.

Colleagues and students who wish to express an interest in attending the IAHIESC are requested to forward a short CV as well as a research proposal which contains the following information (to the following email address: g.carnegie@ballarat.edu.au by March 31, 2009)

1. Project (working) title
2. Background to the study (or scenario for investigation)
3. Main research objective to be stated in a single, concise sentence
