Dear Professor Silver:

I am planning a trip up into Mississippi for the week of October 14 and would very much like to get together with you on my stopover in Oxford. I will be in Jackson all day that Monday and will drive on to Ole Miss Tuesday morning, the 15th. My plans are to stay over there until Wednesday morning.

The purpose of my trip is to meet some of our authors and prospective authors and to scout for likely projects--in the case of Oxford, Faulkner projects. If you know of anyone who has a work in mind or in progress that would seem a likely possibility for the LSU Press, I hope you will put me in touch with them. And I want to talk with you about the Dave Cohn manuscript, among other things.

We met last November at the SHA meeting in Miami--I introduced myself just after your "briefing" session and later I ran into you with Don and Bootsie down on the beach.

I look forward to seeing you again. If you have any suggestions as to who else I might see, at Oxford or in Mississippi generally, by all means pass them along to me.

Cordially yours,

Charles East
