Henry A. Niles, Esq.,

New York City.

Dear Mr. Niles:

On April 5th we wrote to you enclosing the literature which has been put out by this bureau and requesting your opinion as to whether or not its activities were worth while. We also asked whether or not you would be able to use any men obtained by the bureau.

We have had a considerable number of applications from men who seem to have the necessary fundamental qualifications and have also had a number of requests from Institute members for these young men.

We are very anxious to have a reply from all those to whom our original letter was addressed, and as we have not yet heard from you we are writing again to ask if you will kindly co-operate with us to the extent of giving us your views on the subject.

Very truly yours,

Chairman.
