The Accounting Historians Notebook

Call for Papers

The Editors of The Accounting Historians Notebook are looking for article submissions suitable for publication within the Notebook. Articles for consideration should be of broad interest to Academy members. Articles might be considered unlikely to be published in established accounting journals because of topic or short length. Possible topics might include: accounting history research techniques, equipment and software useful to history research, and descriptions of accounting archives and large accounting resource collections. Papers should be sent in electronic form (via e-mail if possible) to Jim McKinney at: jmckinney@rhsmith.umd.edu or David Oldroyd at david.oldroyd@ncl.ac.uk Papers will be subject to a blind peer reviewed process.
A Global History of Accounting, Financial Reporting and Public Policy: Europe
Studies in the Development of Accounting Thought, Volume 14A

Volume Editors: Gary J. Previts, Peter Walton and Peter Wolnizer
ISBN: 9780857246714
Emerald Group Publishing Limited 2010
Forthcoming: December

Volume 14A is the first part of a four volume set focusing on the global history of accounting, financial reporting and public policy. This volume addresses ten European economies, including France, Germany, Italy and the UK as well as the Netherlands, Belgium, Spain, Poland, Sweden, and Switzerland. Each chapter is authored by a specialist from the country concerned.

The Global Accounting History four volume set aims to establish a benchmark reference source that covers the evolution of accounting, financial reporting and related institutions for all major economies in the world in a comparable way.

Accounting History Review

Previously Accounting, Business & Financial History

Accounting History Review (AHR) is an international forum for the publication of scholarly articles on the history of accounting in diverse periods and places. Submissions are invited which investigate:

- continuities and changes in accounting theories, practices and institutions;
- the technological, economic, organisational, ideological, social and cultural contexts in which accounting has emerged and operated;
- the impacts of accounting in those multiple arenas.

The following are also within the scope of the journal:

- histories of auditing, accountability and taxation;
- investigations which reveal the interfaces between accounting, business, finance and management in the past;
- historical explanations of the relationship between accounting and other quantitative technologies;
- studies of the past which inform understandings of accounting in the present.

Original studies emanating from any historiographical tradition or theoretical approach are invited, as are papers which discuss methodologies and innovations in historical research. Reflective of its ecumenical intent, cross-disciplinary ethos and quest for engagement, AHR also welcomes contributions from scholars operating in the wide range of subject areas with which accounting connects.

The journal offers an arena for scholarly discussion and argument in accounting history. With a view to constructively advancing research agendas, the editor seeks shorter polemical pieces which encourage debate or explore controversies, as well as critical bibliographical reviews and surveys which focus on particular countries and themes in accounting history research.

XVIth CONFERENCE OF ACCOUNTING AND MANAGEMENT HISTORY
XVIe JOURNEES D’HISTOIRE DE LA COMPTABILITE ET DU MANAGEMENT
Nantes (France), Maison des Sciences de l’Homme Ange-Guépin
23 - 25 March 2011

PERCEPTIONS, REPRESENTATIONS AND MEASURES OF PROFIT

The purpose of this conference will be to examine profit – whatever the origin, nature, explanation, justification or even the intended purpose and means of appropriation - in as much as it constitutes one of the determinants of the entrepreneur’s conduct – ‘entrepreneur’ being interpreted as either an individual or a collective. Management researchers, historians, sociologists, economists, legal scholars, and other social-science and humanities specialists, who wish to participate in these Journées, are invited to be part of our questioning into how the entrepreneur – merchant, banker, industrialist, or the farmer-general of the Ancien Régime – perceived profit ex ante or ex post. How were these perceptions created, what information did the decision maker use and prefer, on what techniques of observation, measurement and prediction did his judgement rely? How did these perceptions and the representations that flowed from them influence his actions, the development and implementation of strategies, their possible adaptation and/or the appearance of emergent strategies?

Particular attention will be paid to entrepreneurial discourse, whatever the circumstances; from thoughts confided to a personal journal, to those addressed to investors, by means of internal notes or correspondence, not to mention the translation provided by the accounting narrative. While the thought and action of the entrepreneur are at the heart of the matter, all other aspects of the profit concept may be examined, since they were likely to influence this thought and action. Our scope encompasses discourses undertaken and conveyed within the framework of diverse institutions which composed the cultural and social environment – for example religion, law, politics, literature or art – or, closer to our focus, the remarks of those whose role was to contribute to the entrepreneur’s training or to offer advice.

In keeping with the approach of previous conferences, research proposals that do not fit readily within this year’s theme, but which examine management issues within a historical perspective, are equally welcome. Our first consideration will be the novelty and originality of these proposals.

Under the aegis of the Association francophone de comptabilité, the 2011 Journées are being organised by the Laboratoire d’économie et de management de Nantes-Atlantique (LEMNA - EA 4272), in association with the researchers involved in the MARPROF project—Merchant accounting and merchant profits in Europe and America, 1750-1815 (ANR-08-BLAN-0329-03). The conference also will benefit from the generous technical assistance of the Maison des Sciences de l’Homme Ange-Guépin.

Key Dates: 15 November 2010: deadline for the submission of manuscripts, preferably complete. Written in either English or French, manuscripts should include an abstract in both languages. Submission of papers is by e-mail to the following address: Annie Busson, Maison des Sciences de l’Homme Ange Guépin, 5 allée Jacques-Berque, BP 12105, 44021 Nantes cedex 1 France jhcm@univ-nantes.fr

Authors will be advised of the manuscript review committee’s decision no later than January 15 2011. The final version of accepted papers must be submitted before February 28 2011. Once accepted, unless indicated otherwise by the authors, the manuscript will be published on the XVI-Journées website. Conference presentations may be in either English or French, simultaneous translation will be provided.

23 March 2011— INTERDISCIPLINARY DOCTORAL WORKSHOP

History of management knowledge and practice

Preceding the conference on March 23-4, a doctoral workshop will provide doctoral students, in the second or third year of their thesis preparation, the opportunity to present a summary of their work in front of an interdisciplinary audience. Interested students are invited to send, to the e-mail address below, a candidacy dossier including a brief CV and a summary of their thesis project, no more than 25 000 characters (spaces included).
The Academy of Accounting Historians is sponsoring an accounting history research conference hosted by the Robert H. Smith School of Business at the University of Maryland. The conference will be held on June 2, 2011 through June 4, 2011, in College Park, MD just outside Washington, DC. The conference will begin with a reception on Thursday evening, June 2, and conclude mid-afternoon on Saturday, June 4, 2011.

Papers are invited that develop contemporary and historical perspectives of accounting. In particular papers with an emphasis on the AICPA, founded in 1887, and its role within the accounting profession are invited. Other subjects will be separately evaluated in the submission process.

The deadline for submissions is February 15, 2011 but earlier submissions would be appreciated. Papers should include an abstract of approximately 50 words. Papers should be sent by e-mail to Jim McKinney at jmckinney@rhsmith.umd.edu.

REVIEW BOARD: Papers will be reviewed for inclusion in the conference by a board of reviewers.

VENUE: The conference will be held at the Robert H. Smith School of Business, Van Munching Hall, University of Maryland at College Park, College Park, MD 20742. Discounted lodging will be available at the Marriott run University of Maryland University College Inn & Conference Center, located within a five minute walk to the Smith School. Further details will be provided when available on the Academy website. Accommodations are also available at regular rates at other nearby hotels for which information is available upon request. Infrequent shuttles to the Washington DC Metro system are available.

“Innovation in accounting thought and practice: Lessons from the past”

Seville, Spain
25-27 September, 2013

Sponsored by: Department of Business Administration, Universidad Pablo de Olavide, de Sevilla, Department of Accounting, Universidad de Sevilla and Accounting History Special Interest Group of the Accounting and Finance Association of Australia and New Zealand

Papers will be accepted across the full range of accounting history topics and methodological and theoretical perspectives. The conference will take place in a city whose rich heritage extends from the Phoenicians to the Bourbon Dynasty. Seville was the main European harbour for more than 200 years and the source of significant developments in business and trade which also fostered innovations in accounting practice and accounting thought. Authors are therefore encouraged to address topics on innovation in accounting thought and practice which have had a pivotal or significant impact on industries, firms and academic communities, including:

- Innovations in public sector accounting;
- Innovations within auditing firms;
- Innovations in taxation;
- Innovations in the regulation of the profession and standard setting processes;
- New approaches to studying accounting history;
- Accounting education and innovation;
- The role of academics in the development of innovation;
- Understanding and developing innovations derived from business crises;
- Accounting innovations with an international dimension.

Submission and Review of Papers: Papers written in the English language should be submitted electronically no later than 24 March 2013 to 7ahic@rmit.edu.au. All papers will be subject to a double-blind refereeing process and will be published on the Conference Website, as refereed conference proceedings, unless otherwise advised. A special issue of the journal on the conference theme will be published following the event.

Notification of Acceptance: Notification of papers accepted for inclusion in the conference program will be made by 17 May 2013.

Conference information is available at the Conference Website: www.7ahic-seville2013.com Inquiries may be directed to the Conference Convenor, Juan Baños, Universidad Pablo de Olavide, de Sevilla, at the following e-mail address: jbasan@upo.es
