Members and Associates of the American Institute of Accountants.

Dear Sirs:

As was noted in the last bulletin of the American Institute, the annual meeting of the American Institute of Accountants will be held in St. Louis, Missouri, September 15, 16, 17 and 18. The first congress of accountants was held in St. Louis in 1904—twenty years ago—and the committee in charge of arrangements is striving to see that the 1924 meeting is held in a manner which will give cause for remembrance.

The headquarters of the meeting will be at the Hotel Chase. This hotel is situated in one of the best residential districts of St. Louis and overlooks the principal entrance to Forest Park, one of the finest city parks in the United States. Weather conditions in St. Louis about the middle of September are usually ideal, and the hotel is peculiarly well situated for the business and pleasures of conventions.

An interesting and instructive program has been arranged, covering matters of importance to the profession. The discussions are to be open; questions are to be stated and promptly answered; you will see your professional associates in action. Further, you will make their personal acquaintance. Discussions of points of vital interest to accountants by leaders of the profession are always interesting, but the full benefits of a discussion can only be obtained when you are actually an "auditor".

Many members may wish to bring their wives—and their golf clubs. The committee has already given these important matters due consideration. While the business part of the convention should be long remembered, the ladies should long remember the hospitality shown them by St. Louis.

The committee has a pleasant but hard task ahead and your co-operation is requested. Please, therefore, fill out and mail the enclosed postal card as soon as possible.

You have undoubtedly heard a lot about St. Louis. You should "know St. Louis". Come and see us. Our weather is warm at times; our hospitality, always.

Yours very truly,

DAVID L. GREY,
Chairman.
