The Accounting Historians Journal is a refereed, scholarly journal published semiannually in June and December, printed by the Birmingham Printing and Publishing Company, 3101 6th Avenue South, Birmingham, AL 35233. ISSN 0148-4182. AHJ does not assume responsibility for statements of fact or opinion made by its contributors.
ACCOUNTING HISTORIANS JOURNAL

Statement of Policy

The Accounting Historians Journal is an international journal that addresses the development of accounting thought and practice. AHJ embraces all subject matter related to accounting history, including but not limited to research that provides an historical perspective on contemporary accounting issues.

Authors may find the following guidelines helpful.

1. Authors should provide a clear specification of the research issue or problem addressed and the motivation for the study.

2. Authors should describe the method employed in the research, indicating the extent and manner in which they intend to employ the methodology. Manuscripts are encouraged that draw on a variety of conceptual frameworks and techniques, including those used in other social sciences.

3. Manuscripts that rely on primary sources should contain a statement specifying the original materials or data collected or analyzed and the rationale used in selection of those source materials. Authors should provide the reader information as to how these source materials may be accessed.

4. Authors who use a critical or new theoretical framework to examine prior historical interpretations of the development of accounting thought or practice should include a discussion of the rationale for use of that framework in the manuscript.

5. In performing all analyses, authors should be sensitive to and take adequate account of the social, political, and economic contexts of the time period examined and of other environmental factors.

6. While historians have long debated the ability to assign causation to particular factors, we encourage authors to address and evaluate the probable influences related to the problem or issue examined.

7. Authors should clearly state all their interpretations of results, and the conclusions they draw should be consistent with the original objectives of and data used in the study. Interpretations and conclusions should be clearly linked to the research problem. Authors also should state the implications of the study for future research.
Guide for Manuscript Submission

Manuscripts for review should be submitted by e-mail attachment to vollmers@umit.maine.edu and formatted in Microsoft Word. The identity of author(s) should not appear on the attached file — only on the accompanying e-mail transmission. Additional correspondence may be sent to Professor Gloria Vollmers, DPC 342, College of Business, Public Policy and Health, University of Maine, Orono, ME, 04469; phone: (207) 581-1979; Fax: (207) 581-1956. There is no submission fee, although authors are urged to consider joining The Academy of Accounting Historians by completing the membership application form on the inside of the back cover. Papers which have been published, accepted for publication elsewhere, or are under consideration by another journal are not invited. The Accounting Historians Journal will accept a variety of presentation formats for initial submission as long as the writing style is reflective of careful scholarship. Notwithstanding, authors should attend to the following guidelines:

1. An abstract of approximately 100 words on a page that includes the article's title but no identification of the author(s).
2. A limited number of content footnotes.
3. A limited number of tables, figures, etc., appended at the conclusion of the text, but whose positioning in the narrative is indicated.
4. References are to appear in brackets within the text. Specific page numbers are mandatory for all direct quotes but are optional otherwise.
5. A bibliography of all references cited in the text.
6. Manuscripts should not exceed 10,000 words in length.

Upon acceptance or an invitation to revise and resubmit, authors will be sent a style sheet which must be followed conscientiously for all subsequent revisions of the paper. Once the article is accepted, the editor will request the submission of a diskette prepared in Microsoft Word. If time permits, authors will be sent galley proofs. However, the inclusion of additional material will be severely limited.

Authors will be provided with 3 copies of the AHJ issue in which the manuscript is published. Reprints may be ordered by arrangement with the publisher.
Ethical Code of Conduct for The Accounting Historians Journal

Plagiarism
Plagiarism is not acceptable in The Accounting Historians Journal. The U.S. National Science Foundation defines plagiarism as "the appropriation of another person's ideas, processes, results, or words without giving appropriate credit" (45 Code of Federal Regulations, Section 689.1). As a result, authors should not engage in plagiarism - verbatim or near-verbatim copying, or very close paraphrasing, of text or results from another's work. In addition, authors should not engage in self-plagiarism (also known as duplicate publication) - unacceptably close replication of his or hers own previously published text or results without acknowledgement of the source. To preclude an appearance of plagiarism, all verbatim or near-verbatim copying from their own or another's works should be placed in quotes and referenced in a list of references. In a similar manner, an author should not draw upon fraudulent or fictitious data to support their conclusions. If an author or authors later discover that any data reported in an accepted article is fictitious or erroneous, it is their responsibility to provide The Accounting Historians Journal with a retraction or correction. Appropriate acknowledgement of substantive support for research is standard for researchers in Colleges of Business worldwide and should be honored for works submitted to The Accounting Historians Journal.

Author's Responsibilities
All material submitted to The Accounting Historians Journal is subject to peer review. All indicated authors of a particular submission are expected to have significantly contributed to the work.

Reviewer's Responsibilities
The Accounting Historians Journal strives to select peer reviewers who are knowledgeable and expects them to be objective in their assessment of the submissions they are reviewing and to suggest to authors as part of their review, overlooked published works which were not cited. Reviewers are expected to inform the Editor of any conflicts of interest they have with regard to the research, the authors of the submission and/or the research funders. All reviewers are expected to treat the articles they are reviewing confidentially.
Editorial Responsibilities
The Editor(s) of The Accounting Historians Journal have complete responsibility and authority to accept or reject a submitted article for publication. It is expected that the Editor(s) will not allow personal conflicts of interest with regard to the articles submitted to overly influence their decisions and will rely upon peer reviewer evaluations to achieve reasonable certainty that accepted articles are appropriate for publication within the parameters of the Journal's Statement of Policy and rejected articles are not. To preserve the neutrality of their reviewers, the Editor(s) will maintain the anonymity of the reviewers of a given submission. When informed by authors of errors or mistakes in published articles, the Editor(s) will encourage the publication of corrections or retractions.

Publisher Responsibilities
As a matter of principle, The Academy of Accounting Historians, which publishes The Accounting Historians Journal subscribes to the principles of editorial integrity and ethical supervision consistent with those policies established by the editorial policy provided herein.
