Richard Vangermeersch and Estate of Hanns Schoenfeld Make Separate Donations Totaling $70,000 to the Academy

The Academy was very fortunate in receiving two large and very generous donations to enhance the endowments of two of our Academy awards. Dr. Richard Vangermeersch donated an additional $20,000 to the Academy’s Vangermeersch Manuscript Award fund adding to his previous donations. The estate of Professor Hanns Schoenfeld added an additional $50,000 to the Margit F. Schoenfeld & Hanns Martin W. Schoenfeld Scholarship in Accounting History fund. The Academy is extremely grateful for their generosity and all they have done for the Academy.

Former Academy President, Hanns Martin Schoenfeld, Passes Away

Hanns Martin Schoenfeld, who served as the Third President of the Academy during a two year term (1978 and 1979) died on February 24th in Champaign, Illinois.

A faculty member at the University of Illinois since 1962 and a Life Member of the Academy since 2005, Hanns Martin and his wife, are the benefactors of the Margit F. and Hanns Martin W. Schoenfeld Scholarship in Accounting History which is awarded to a deserving doctoral student.

The Award, established in 2006 recognizes the need to encourage global disciplinary background in the study of accounting history.

Hanns Martin earned an MBA (1952) and a DBA (1954) at the University of Hamburg. His Ph.D. was awarded in 1964 at the Technical University of Braunschweig.

Gary John Previts Inducted into The Accounting Hall of Fame

Former Academy President and Founder, Gary John Previts, was inducted as the 87th member of The Accounting Hall of Fame located at The Ohio State University.

The Hall of Fame was established in 1950 for “the purpose of honoring accountants who have made or are making significant contributions to the advancement of accounting since the beginning of the twentieth century.” Gary was inducted in 2011 along with Reed Karl Storey, who worked with the Accounting Principles Board and Financial Accounting Standards Board.

Gary was the first President of the Academy and first Editor of The Accounting Historians Journal and continues to serve as an Academy Trustee. In addition to his numerous history journal publications, he published with Barbara Merino, A History of Accountancy in the United States.

Professor Previts has served as an advisor to the United States Government Accountability Office and the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board as well as Associate Dean and Accounting Chair at the Case Western Reserve University.

He was a scholarly contributor to the literature and an advocate of international scholarship.

The Academy is grateful for his numerous contributions to the field of accounting history and his efforts extended to the Academy. Future generations of accounting researchers will benefit from his generosity.
Former Academy Officers Lead North American Accounting Associations

Gregory Waymire, 2010 President and current Trustee of the Academy, was elected to lead the American Accounting Association (AAA) as President for the AAA 2011-2012 fiscal year. Vaughan Radcliffe, former Trustee of the Academy, was elected to lead the Canadian Academic Accounting Association (CAAA) as President the 2011-2012 CAAA fiscal year.

Gregory Waymire is the Asa Griggs Candler Professor of Accounting at the Goizueta Business School at Emory University. Vaughan Radcliffe is an Associate Professor of Managerial Accounting and Control at the Richard Ivey School of Business, Western University.

Changes in Accounting History Journals

The Turkish based accounting and finance history researchers association, Muhasebe ve Finans Tarihi Araştırmacıları Derneği (MUFİTAD), published in July the first issue of their primarily Turkish language journal Muhasebe ve Finans Tarihi Araştırmaları Dergisi or Accounting and Financial History Research Journal. The journal’s Director and Editor in Chief is Academy Trustee Oktay Güvemli.

The Routledge English language publication based out of Cardiff University, Accounting, Business & Financial History has after twenty volumes changed its title in 2011 to the Accounting History Review. The new Editor of the journal is former Academy President Stephen Walker.

In 2011, the second issue of the French language online journal, Comptabilité(S) revue d'histoire de la comptabilité, was published. The journal Editors in Chief are Marie-Laure Legay and Matthieu de Oliveira.

2011 Annual Research Conference
Modern Perspectives of Accounting History: 125 Years of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants 1887-2012
June 4, 2011 • University of Maryland, College Park, MD USA

The meeting convened at 11:00 AM.

Present: Jim McKinney (President, Chair), Kevin Carduff, Ed Coffman, Deirdre Collier, Joann Noe Cross, Dale Flesher, George Fritz, Joan Hollister, Mark Jobe, Cynthia Krom, Yvette Lazdowski, Stephanie Moussalli, Gary Previts, Jennifer Reynolds-Moehrle, Diane Roberts, Lucia Rodrigues, Bob Russ, Sally Schultz, Tom Tyson, Richard Vangermeersch. Guest: Royce Kurtz

1. Vangermeersch and Schoenfeld donations (McKinney)
This year, Dr. Richard Vangermeersch donated an additional $20,000 to the Academy’s Vangermeersch Manuscript Award fund. Also, an additional $50,000 was received from the estate of Professor Hanns Schoenfeld to add to the Margit F. Schoenfeld & Hanns Martin W. Schoenfeld Scholarship in Accounting History fund.

2. Awards deadlines (McKinney)
- 2011 Thomas J Burns Biographical Research Award. Deadline has passed. Chairman of committee is Dale Flesher.
- 2011 Hourglass Award. Deadline has passed. The announcement should be made in August.
- 2011 Schoenfeld Award. Deadline has passed. Chairman Gary Carnegie.
- 2011 Vangermeersch Manuscript Award. Deadline is August 1. Chairman Dick Fleischman.
- 2011 Innovation in Accounting Education Award. Deadline is August 31. Nominations are solicited for those awards for which the deadline has not passed.

3. President’s report: strategy (McKinney)
A survey of the Academy membership was conducted (response rate = 25%) to determine which of three strategic options for the Academy’s future they preferred: 1) to pursue AAA affiliation (ranked 1st choice by 35%), 2) to become truly international and interdisciplinary (ranked 1st choice by 39%), 3) to maintain the status quo (1st choice for 27%).

McKinney said it was unclear if members understood that Choice 2 was interdisciplinary as well as international, extending outside accounting in other fields such as philosophy and sociology. The absence of a clear demand for change means that we are left by default with Choice 3, the status quo, or a version of it. However, continuing with the status quo means that the problems of consistently declining membership and the lack of external recognition and acceptance of accounting history will continue unresolved. For the near term, the Academy needs to continue to address these two issues working within the current governance structure.

The Accounting Historians Notebook will try to publish listings of papers on accounting history that have been published or presented at accounting history conferences throughout the world and contact their authors to see if they’d like to join the Academy. It appears that sometimes up to half of the presenters are not Academy members. Gary Previts and Joann Noe Cross are pursuing the possibility of the Journal being indexed in the Social Science Citation Index. The Journal has already been adopted for digitizing by JSTOR. The membership is encouraged to recruit new members and promote the accounting history agenda.

Other items unrelated to governance were also included in the survey. McKinney noted that accounting history resources, syllabi of doctoral seminars in accounting history, and abstracts of articles might be listed on the AAH website and the AHN might explain what it is that award recipients have done. Previously, a suggestion was made to get accounting history back into the textbooks, although it is hard to see how this may be done. McKinney suggested that we could possibly reach out to textbook authors or publishers and offer to assist in providing historical context. The AAA meeting in Denver this August will hold a 4-hour CPE session on accounting history methodology, though if not enough people sign up for it, it will be cancelled.

General discussion ensued, including Diane Roberts, Gary Previts, Jim McKinney, Yvette Lazdowski, Cynthia Krom, Deirdre Collier, Bob Russ, Stephanie Moussalli, Tom Tyson, and Joan Hollister.

Points discussed included the possibility of becoming affiliated with the AAA but not as a section, remaining in part independent; that the AAA’s Tracy Sutherland is supportive of accounting history papers at the AAA annual meeting and the AAA and the AAH have signed a Memorandum of Understanding; that our dues, at $50, would be the most expensive of the AAA sections; that we could not be part of the AAA as the members had rejected it; that we might persuade the EAA or the CAAA to allow us to add check off boxes to their membership prompts without our joining them; that we might create a suggested reading list for beginning accounting historians, that not all beginners in accounting history are doctoral students, that we could have an accounting history panel at the AAA but it would compete with 14 other concurrent sessions, that the AAA is too expensive for many small schools to participate in and that faculty at smaller liberal arts schools don’t know the AAH exists, that we should market to such department chairmen and also to non-AACSB schools; that business historians are natural allies, that the key is to get an enthusiastic group of members to spearhead these activities as was done when Al Roberts was AAH secretary, that it is important to stay U.S.-centric in part for 501(c)(3) maintenance, that Tom Tyson is offering a 2-day seminar in accounting historiography at the next World Congress of Accounting Historians in 2012; that the WCAH is a place to recruit; that the awards should be better advertised, not just in AHN; that the AAH money goes to support the organization’s purposes, and almost all the work (with the exception of Tiffany Welch) is volunteer.

4. Editorial appointment, AHJ
(McKinney)

Both editors, Dick Fleischman and Chris Napier, are stepping down at the end of this year. A call for nominations has been sent out. It is critical to get a person who will maintain the high quality and reputation of the Journal.

5. World Congress of Accounting Historians (McKinney)

Will be held July 17-19, 2012, at Newcastle upon Tyne in England. Discussion occurred that the conference venue is lovely and in the heart of downtown. The deadline for paper submission is January 15, 2012.

6. Beta Alpha Psi (McKinney)

The 100th anniversary of Beta Alpha Psi is approaching and they are considering requesting someone to help with the writing of an addendum to their history, although their plans, they recently told McKinney, are not finalized.

7. Budget Update / Treasurer’s report
(Reynolds-Moehrle)

Reynolds-Moehrle welcomed the new members of the Academy and then discussed the Academy’s financial situation.

The recently-circulated 2010 financial statements of the Academy were summarized. On May 9, 2011, independent auditors Watkins, Ward and Stafford of Starkville, MS, issued a clean opinion for the Academy for 2010, and file the Academy’s 2010 informational tax return. They charge $2,200, an excellent bargain.

Assets of $320,000 as of December 31 (now $200,000 due to this year’s donations) consist of $130,000 restricted for awards and scholarships and $190,000 in an endowments fund, a conferences fund, and a general fund. The membership can consider how best to use the latter amount.

The auditors had three questions in the analytical section:

- Why have membership dues fallen? This has been steady at about 5% per year since Moehrle became treasurer. The dues are used for administrative costs, the website, and printing the Journal, mostly the Journal.

- Why has interest income fallen? Returns on our CDs are abysmal because the current market rates are so low. The Academy, as a 501(c)(3), is forbidden to hold money in foreign banks. Our average return on CDs is still about 1%, but it would be lower except for some large CDs that were bought before the current downturn.

- Why are the award amounts lower than in the past? We didn’t award the Schoenfeld prize last year for lack of applications. The awards have been paid out of membership dues, and those are declining. Some awards are now going to come from endowment principles. The donations did not restrict the expenditures to the income only.

Tyson asked if the conference fund is for the support of conferences or is some part to support student attendance? The money is used as subventions for the AAH annual research conference, the WCAH, and a few other conferences. Support for student attendance has in the past come as private donations from members. Some money is provided for the president and the editor of the Journal to attend the conference. The Academy usually waives student registration fees for its research conferences.

8. Results of silent book auction at October conference at Ohio State University (Moussalli)
Reynolds-Moehrle announced that the October, 2010 silent book auction had raised $650 for the Academy. Moussalli announced that the current auction at this conference raised less than a quarter of that amount, though the final figure is not yet known. She thanked Dick Vangemeersch and Bob Russ for their generous donations of books for this auction.

There has been informal discussion of the possibility of the Academy selling books donated by members through online booksellers. This would be especially helpful for those books that do not sell at successive Academy auctions. She asked for member input. Bob Russ explained that he volunteers for his local public library in Kentucky, which has an arrangement with an online bookseller. If he sells one of the library’s books, the library receives 50% of the proceeds. The bookseller only accepts books he thinks might sell for at least $10.

General discussion ensued, mostly enthusiastic. A problem would be that members would have to ship their donations at their own expense, but this could be ameliorated when the meeting is within driving distance of Bob Russ or another member, such as Yvette Lazdowski, who might work with affiliated booksellers. The huge advantage of a world-wide online market might mean that books that don’t sell at our auctions could earn money for the Academy. Tax implications include informing donors of the value at which the books sell online; and that their donations would still be deductible despite being sold by a for-profit vendor, because it was on behalf of a 501(c)(3).

9. Accounting history CPE at Denver AAA meeting, August, 2011 (Previts)
Saturday, August 6, 8AM to noon. 12-20 enrolments are needed. Previts will send out head count information. This was originally Greg Waymire’s idea and as incoming AAA president he may make an appearance at the CPE.

10. Ice Cream Social and Business Meeting at AAA meeting in Denver, August, 2011 (Previts)
These events will take place, as always, on Sunday evening before the AAA conference begins.

Despite the expense of on-site catering, the logistical and financial impediments to holding these events away from the conference site are prohibitive.

11. Membership Update (Previts for Tiffany Welch, in absentia)
As of June 1, 2011, total membership was 428, down from 530 at the end of the year. The biggest drop, again, was in institutional affiliates, who are mostly libraries now getting their AHJ subscriptions through aggregators like EBSCO and ProQuest. Individual memberships are down only 37. We need a strategy to increase institutional membership. Both EBSCO and ProQuest would pay more if we allowed one an exclusive contract, but that would mean the Journal is not easily available at some libraries. The Academy has prioritized wide availability over revenues.

Academy membership target needs to be returned to over 500.

12. Academy research conference, 2013 (Cross)
This conference will take place in OshKosh, Wisconsin on one of the following dates: October 18-20, 2013, or October 25-27. Transportation from the airport will be arranged. Campus housing, very inexpensive but not luxurious, will be arranged. It will be priced in the conference registration fee.

A reception will take place at the Experimental Aircraft Association facility, which is the 2nd most important history of aircraft museum in the country (after the Smithsonian’s Air and Space Museum). OshKosh is important in the history of paper making, and Wisconsin is important to the history of Progressivism. The conference theme will be the accounting history of transportation, but papers on other topics, e.g., Progressivism, will be welcome.

The meeting adjourned at 12:40 PM.

Respectfully submitted,
Stephanie D. Moussalli, Secretary

2. Reports

A. Update on strategy (McKinney, with discussion from floor)

Past president Greg Waymire sent out a survey to the membership asking them to choose if they wanted to create an international, interdisciplinary group, or seek to join the AAA, or maintain the status quo. A plurality chose the first option, though it is not clear they understood it would actually be a broad interdisciplinary scholarly group. In the absence of a consensus for any option, we are keeping the status quo.

A question from the floor pointed out that since about 75% had rejected the status quo, why not have a second round of votes between the first two options.

Problems remain with declining membership and the lack of recognition of accounting history in the United States. Fortunately, Tracey Sutherland has allowed numerous accounting history sessions at the AAA meetings.

Previts has shepherded the successful inclusion of the Accounting Historians Journal in JSTOR. He and others are now trying to have SSCI and SCOPUS include it. These citation indices are especially important in Europe.

B. Accounting Historians’ Notebook (McKinney)

McKinney tried to list all the presentations on accounting history made at (Continued on page 11) conferences in the AHN. He has and plans to contact the presenters to ask them to join the Academy. Because of his efforts, the Academy membership has increased.

Also, McKinney is trying to put the syllabi of accounting history doctoral seminars into the AHN.

All members should recently have received a late issue for April, 2011. The next issue will be out in a month or so. Members who know of conferences where accounting history papers are being presented are requested to please let him know about it.

C. Editorial appointment (McKinney)
The current editors, Dick Fleischman and Chris Napier, are ending their terms this year. The Academy issued a call for nominations for new editors. There is an interested and qualified applicant and McKinney is trying to arrange that the transition to a new editor be seamless.

D. Academy research conference, 2013 (McKinney)
The next Academy research conference will take place in Oshkosh, Wisconsin in October, 2013.

E. World Congress of Accounting Historians, July 17 - 19, 2012 (McKinney)
This will take place in Newcastle upon Tyne, UK, organized by David Oldroyd and co-sponsored by the Academy. Note that it is the week before the Olympics.

F. Membership update (McKinney)
Individual memberships are above this date last year. We are trying to achieve the levels of 2009. Institutional memberships are down 20% - 30% over last year. This will probably not reverse, due to libraries’ participation in aggregators’ packages. Institutional memberships are now about twice individuals’; they used to be three times individuals’.

G. Website (McKinney)
A couple of years ago, the Academy switched to a web-page host company that handles not-for-profit websites. Although the company had good recommendations, people very often have had trouble using the website to pay dues and so forth. McKinney has never had any trouble. It has been difficult to put up announcements on the site. Some members have been unable to renew on the site, and the Academy has lost some members.

The Academy is now seriously considering changing the host company again, either this year or next.

H. CPE session on accounting history, held at this Denver conference (McKinney).
The session, held yesterday (Aug. 6) was well attended. We plan to try it again next year. It was suggested that next year we have it on Sunday, so people do not have to arrive 2 days before the main conference begins.

I. June, 2011 research conference in College Park, Maryland (McKinney)
There were 45 – 50 attendees. Financially, it was a success, coming in under budget.

J. Accounting history sessions at this AAA conference in Denver (McKinney)
McKinney sent out an email to all members listing all sessions on accounting history at this conference.

K. Treasurer’s report (Reynolds-Moehrle)
As of July 31, the Academy had about $400,000 in assets. Watkins, Ward and Stafford, independent auditors in Starkville, MS, issued a clean audit report for the Academy financials for 2010.

About $200,000 of Academy assets are for the support of specific scholarships and awards. In early 2011, Hanns Martin Schoenfeld passed away. His estate added $50,000 to the already generous endowment created by himself and his wife, the late Dr. Margit Schoenfeld, so that the Schoenfeld fund now stands at about $170,000.

The fund supports research on the history of accounting by doctoral students and recently appointed accounting faculty.

In 2011, Academy member Richard Vangermeersch generously added $20,000 to the Vangermeersch manuscript award fund. The Vangermeersch awards are for unpublished manuscripts in accounting history by junior faculty.

The other $200,000 of Academy assets are for the funding of future activities, including conference subventions. The Academy will contribute to the costs of the World Congress of Accounting Historians in 2012. It also supported the June research conference in College Park, Maryland. Thanks to the efforts of the president, Jim McKinney, that conference required less support than expected.

Ongoing Academy operations are funded from annual membership dues. This includes the publication of the Accounting Historians Journal and Notebook, the payment of administrative costs (including a part-time administrator for the Journal and one for the Academy, as well as other costs), and the support of the website.

In past years, institutional dues have been enough to cover the publications. Individual dues have paid administrative costs. However, institutional memberships have declined significantly.

Strategic questions that Reynolds-Moehrle recommends the Academy consider in the near future are:
• Should the Academy’s business

model for the two publications change?

- Should the Academy change the pay scale for the Academy administrator, Tiffany Welch? She is currently being asked to do more work than is reasonable for the compensation we pay.

L. Book sales project, “Bob’s Bookstore” (Russ)

The purpose of this project is to facilitate the sale of used books that do not sell at the occasional silent book auctions. A sizable inventory has accumulated. Russ spoke to an online bookseller who would sell them through Amazon. Online sales would re-distribute these books and earn the Academy a little money. The bookseller can only handle some of them.

Many are old textbooks from the 1930s and 1940s. They sell online for about $1.00, and Amazon charges the seller $1.00 per book. The purpose of selling these items would be simply to re-distribute them rather than discard them.

For Academy members who wish to donate more books to the Academy, the Accounting Historians Notebook will publish an address supplied by Russ to which such books can be shipped, at donor’s expense.

All net proceeds go to support Academy operations. This includes the approximately $550 made at the silent book auction in College Park this past June.

M. “Voices of Experience” project (Lazdowski)

Lazdowski has set up a corner in the Accounting Historians Notebook to contain interviews about or short articles by Academy members whose experiences with the Academy and/or accounting history should be recounted. Lazdowski conducted a first interview with Richard Vangermeersch, on which the first Voices of Experience item will be based.

She solicits articles or ideas or input from other Academy members for future items.

She may include a list of books suggested by members that people can read to get started in their accounting history research.

N. Global Accounting Digital Archive Network (Moussalli)

The GADAN, a joint effort of the Academy of Accounting Historians, the American Accounting Association, and the European Accounting Association, combines many sources of freely available digital information and archives related to accounting in various parts of the world and aims to assemble links to useful accounting archives.

The current GADAN committee consists of Moussalli as the AAH representative, Jim McKinney as the AAA representative, and Lúcia Lima Rodrigues, representing the European Accounting Association.

The committee solicits input from members on directions for the GADAN to pursue.

O. SCOPUS, JSTOR, and SSCI updates (Previts)

Previts, Cross, and others are also pursuing inclusion in the Social Science Citation Index (SSCI), as well as its new competitor SCOPUS (which is related to Elsevier). Inclusion in a citation index would be very desirable for elevating the visibility and prestige of accounting history research, especially among American universities.

Dan Jensen and Previts, since 2006, have been pursuing questions concerning the digitization and electronic dissemination of the AHJ. The AHJ and AHN are now available open access, full-text, and searchable at the University of Mississippi library website. The focus on access is important to the AHJ, but there are questions about the re-negotiation of our contracts with consolidators such as EBSCO and ProQuest.

3. Other business

Peter Wolnizer reminded members of the Ray Chambers accounting collection, housed at the University of Sydney. More than 10,000 items have been digitized, including Chambers’ work from the 1950s through the 1980s, and many other items.

Also included are 120 or so pieces relating to the now-defunct Accounting Researchers international Organization.

Some discussion of how the digitization was financed ensued.

Moussalli reminded members that the University of Mississippi digital accounting collection is also very large, including early 20th-century cost accounting pamphlets, AICPA materials, a large collection of Deloitte Touche papers, as well as the Academy publications. It is searchable online and open to all researchers.

The meeting adjourned at 8:00 PM.

Respectfully submitted,
Stephanie D. Moussalli, Secretary

Reflections on the Remarkable Life of Elmer Staats (1914-2011)\(^1\)

Donald E. Tidrick
Illinois University

I had the privilege of interviewing Elmer Boyd Staats in 2005 in connection with a project to document the history of the U.S. Government Accountability Office, founded in 1921 as the General Accounting Office, by focusing on the individual contributions of the seven men who, at that time, had held the title “Comptroller General of the United States.”\(^2\) Staats was the fifth Comptroller General of the United States, appointed by President Lyndon Johnson in 1966, serving to the end of his 15-year term in 1981. Staats passed away on July 23, 2011, at the age of 97. At a time when government service has a connotation to many Americans of discord and divisiveness, it might be worthwhile to reflect upon the life and legacy of an eminent career civil servant.

THE EARLY YEARS

Elmer Staats was born in Kansas in 1914. An ambitious student, he was the class valedictorian of Sylvia High School in 1931. He earned his bachelor’s degree from McPherson College in 1935, graduating Phi Beta Kappa; and he earned a master’s degree in political science and economics from the University of Kansas in 1936. He earned a Ph.D. in political economy from the University of Minnesota in 1939. Staats attributed his ambition to pursue a Ph.D. degree to the indelible impression that the

\(^1\)This brief article is adapted from the author’s write-up that the Association of Government Accountants (AGA) posted to the AGA’s homepage following the recent passing of Mr. Staats. The AGA kindly granted permission for this adaptation to be submitted to the Academy of Accounting Historians.

\(^2\)“The Comptrollers General of the United States and a Conversation with the Three Surviving CGs” was published as a monograph by the Association of Government Accountants for distribution at the AGA’s annual Professional Development Conference in San Diego (June, 2006). The AGA also published the separate interviews of “the three surviving CGs” (Elmer B. Staats, Charles A. Bowsher, and David M. Walker) as a three-part series in the Journal of Government Financial Management in 2006 in the summer, fall, and winter issues, respectively.
Great Depression left on him. At that time, he said there were only a few universities offering programs in public administration, such as Harvard, Princeton, Syracuse and Minnesota, and he chose the University of Minnesota because they offered him a fellowship.

MR. STAATS GOES TO WASHINGTON

After receiving his master’s degree, Staats had a summer research assistantship in Topeka in 1936; he had a staff position with the Public Administration Service in Chicago in 1937–1938; and had a fellowship with the Brookings Institution in Washington in 1938–1939. He worked with the Bureau of the Budget (now known as the Office of Management and Budget) from 1939 to 1953. President Truman appointed him deputy director in 1950. Over the next several years, he held a variety of positions (including serving as research director for Marshall Field & Co. in 1953). Staats returned to the Bureau of the Budget as assistant director in 1958, and President Eisenhower reappointed him to be deputy director of the Bureau of the Budget in 1959. President Kennedy and President Johnson reappointed him to that position. As deputy budget director, Staats had a lot of visibility within the government, and he enjoyed credibility with both parties of Congress. In 1966, President Johnson appointed Staats to be the fifth Comptroller General of the United States.

A TRANSFORMATIONAL LEADER OF GAO

The GAO was founded in 1921 in connection with the Budget and Accounting Act of 1921. The early years might be described as the “voucher checking era,” with primary emphasis directed at tracking federal expenditures and collections for compliance with applicable laws and regulations. Indeed, that was the priority of the first two comptrollers general, John R. McCarl (1921-1936) and Fred H. Brown (1939-1940). Under the direction of Lindsay C. Warren (1940 – 1954) and Joseph Campbell (1954-1965), GAO’s emphasis shifted to the “comprehensive auditing era” with a primary emphasis on financial audits of governmental entities. During those years, GAO personnel primarily consisted of accountants and auditors.

Staats was appointed comptroller general in 1966 and began to reposition GAO to pursue what might be called the “program evaluation era,” associated with the modern GAO. In the interview, Staats commented about the challenges he faced as he began his term as comptroller general:

My basic priority was pretty simple – I wanted to see whether I could make GAO work as I understood the original intent of Congress. When I went to work for GAO, they were essentially just auditing vouchers related to government disbursements. Having a 15-year term is very important – it gives the comptroller general the opportunity to tackle some big challenges, to make some mistakes, yet still have a chance to shape the organization.

At that time, Staats said only 8 percent of GAO’s workload was attributable to congressional requests or legislative mandates. Under his leadership, GAO increasingly focused on broad program evaluation and policy analysis that supported the legislative mission of Congress. That also required a significant change in the composition of GAO’s staff to emphasize an evolving set of skills and subject matters, not limited to accounting and auditing. By the end of his term, about two-thirds of GAO’s workload was directly attributable to congressional requests or legislative mandates (and, today, that is approximately 94 percent). Other significant accomplishments during the Staats era at GAO include issuing the first “Yellow Book” providing professional standards for auditing governmental entities; and building relationships with the international community through his active participation and leadership in the International Organization of Supreme Audit Institutions (INTOSAI) that had not been a priority of his predecessors. It is fair to say that Staats charted the course that GAO substantially follows to this day. He concluded the interview by commenting, “GAO is a great organization that I believe is unique in the world.” And he was unique, too.

INDUCTED INTO THE ACCOUNTING HALL OF FAME

Although he was not an accountant, he served as the first chairman of the Cost Accounting Standards Board as a result of legislative mandate from 1971–1981. Following completion of his term as Comptroller General of the United States, Staats was appointed to a five-year term on the Governmental Accounting Standards Board when it was founded in 1984. He was appointed to serve as the first chairman of the Federal Accounting Standards Advisory Board when it was founded in 1990. He was induct-

Staats served for many years as the chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Harry S. Truman Scholarship Foundation, the president who appointed him to his first federal post. He had too many activities and received too many awards and honors to enumerate here. For example, he received the Presidential Citizens Medal, the Hubert Humphrey Medal, the Medal of Honor from the American Institute of CPAs and the Public Service Award of the General Accounting Office, to name just a few.

Staats’ remarkable career in public service literally spanned the presidencies of Roosevelt to Reagan. His enduring contributions to GAO and the nation might best be commented on by those few who have followed in his footsteps. The current (eighth) Comptroller General of the United States, Gene Dodaro, CGFM, reflected on Staat’s passing, “His intelligence, dedication and integrity were legendary in Washington. If anyone could be called a model public servant, it was Elmer.” Former Comptroller General David Walker, CPA, said, “Elmer Staats was a model public servant who made a difference in every position that he ever held. He was a person of unquestioned integrity and an inspiration to me and many others.” Staats’ immediate successor, Comptroller General Charles Bowsher, CPA, said, “Elmer Staats was one of the great public servants during the WWII and post-war era. His leadership at both the Bureau of the Budget and GAO for over 30 years was never matched by anyone else in the 20th century.”
