CHECKLIST AND ILLUSTRATIVE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS FOR CONSTRUCTION CONTRACTORS

.01 The checklist and illustrative financial statements included in this section are not designed to be applied to the financial statements of government contractors.

.02 The checklist and illustrative financial statements have been developed by the staff of the Technical Information Division of the AICPA as nonauthoritative technical practice aids. Readers should be aware of the following:

- The checklist and illustrative financial statements are "tools" and in no way represent official positions or pronouncements of the AICPA.
- The checklist and illustrative financial statements are to be used in conjunction with the "Checklists and Illustrative Financial Statements for Corporations" (FSP sections 2000—2600) and have been updated to include relevant accounting pronouncements through FASB Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 117, FASB Interpretation No. 40, FASB Technical Bulletin No. 94-1, AICPA Statement of Position No. 93-8, AICPA Practice Bulletin No. 11, AICPA Audit and Accounting Guide, Audits of Construction Contractors (with conforming changes as of May 1, 1994), and FASB Emerging Issues Task Force consensuses reached through May 19, 1994. The checklist and illustrative financial statements should be modified, as appropriate, for subsequent pronouncements. In determining the applicability of a pronouncement, its effective date should also be considered.
- The checklist and illustrative financial statements should be used by, or under the supervision of, persons having adequate technical training and proficiency in the application of generally accepted accounting principles, generally accepted auditing standards, and statements on standards for accounting and review services.
- The checklist and illustrative financial statements do not represent minimum requirements and do not purport to be all-inclusive. The referenced standards should be reviewed if clarification is needed to determine whether the disclosure indicated is required or suggested, and to what extent each disclosure is relevant to the statements being presented.

.03 Users of the checklist and illustrative financial statements are urged to refer directly to applicable authoritative pronouncements when appropriate. If you have further questions, call the AICPA Technical Hotline.

Note: This publication was extracted from sections 8,000 to 8,300 of the AICPA Financial Statement Preparation Manual (FSP).

Introduction

.01 The range of size and sophistication of companies in the construction industry has produced a variety of construction-type contracts and types of business enterprises that use them.

.02 The organizational structure, resources, and capabilities of contractors tend to vary with the type of construction activity.

.03 Common accounting and reporting practices by contractors include:

- The predominant practice is to present balance sheets with assets and liabilities classified as current and noncurrent on the basis of one year or the operating cycle. An unclassified balance sheet is also acceptable.
- Costs and estimated earnings in excess of billings are classified as current assets, and billings in excess of costs and estimated earnings are classified as current liabilities.
- Net debit balances for certain contracts should not be offset against net credit balances of other unrelated contracts.
- Contractors frequently participate in joint ventures, corporations, and general or limited partnerships.
   These may be reported as investments or combined or consolidated in the financial statements.
- The percentage-of-completion method of contract accounting is preferable, but the completed-contract method is also acceptable in certain circumstances.
- The method of revenue recognition should be disclosed.
- A provision for losses on a contract should be made as soon as the losses become evident, regardless of the method of accounting for the contract, and reported as a liability or deducted from any related accumulated costs.
- Contractors are encouraged to present backlog information.

Financial Statements and Notes Checklist

.01 This checklist has been developed by the staff of the Technical Information Division of the AICPA as a nonauthoritative practice aid and is to be used in conjunction with the "Checklists and Illustrative Financial Statements for Corporations" (FSP sections 2000—2600). This checklist has been developed especially for use in audits of construction contractors. Included are only the disclosures typically required in financial statements of construction contractors. Accordingly, users should carefully consider the need to modify the checklist for any additional disclosure requirements and/or reporting situations encountered during the engagement.

.02 For each item, place a check mark in the "Yes," "No," or "N/A" (not applicable) column. Add additional explanations such as "N/M" (not material) if necessary.

	(5) Advance payments on contracts for mobilization or other purposes?
	(6) Obligations for equipment specifically purchased for, or expected to be used solely on, an individual contract regardless of the payment terms of the obligations?
	(7) Provisions for losses on contracts (except in circumstances where the related costs are accumulated on the balance sheet, in which case the provision may be deducted from the related accumulated costs)? [AAG, pars. 6.01—.08; SOP 81-1 (AAG, App. A), par. 89]
В.	Receivables
	Are the amount, nature, and status of billed or unbilled receivables representing unapproved change orders, claims, or similar items subject to uncertainty disclosed, including amounts expected to be collected after one year? [AAG, par. 6.24]
2.	Are receivables representing the recognized sales value of performance under contracts that are neither billed nor billable to customers at the balance-sheet date disclosed with a general description of the prerequisite for billing?
	<ul><li>a. Are the amounts to be collected after one year disclosed? [AAG, par. 6.25]</li></ul>
3.	If it appears that revenue from claims is recorded only when the amounts are received or awarded, is the total of such claims disclosed? [SOP 81-1 (AAG, App. A), par. 66; SFAS 5, par. 17, (AC C59.118)]
4.	If receivables include amounts maturing after one year, are the following disclosed:
	a. The amount maturing after one year and, if practicable, the amounts maturing in each year?
	b. Interest rates on major receivable items, or on classes of receivables, maturing after one year or an indication of the average interest rate or the range of rates on all receivables?  [AAG, par. 6.27]
5.	If receivables appear to include amounts representing balances billed but not yet paid by customers under retainage provisions, is disclosure made of the amounts included, the amounts expected to be collected after one year, and, if practicable, the years in which the amounts are expected to be collected? [AAG, pars. 6.03 and 6.28]
6.	Are retentions receivable not due within the company's operating cycle classified as noncurrent in a classified balance sheet? [AAG, pars. 6.10 and 6.28]
7.	For receivables from retail land sales operations, are the following disclosed:
	a. Maturities for each of the next five years?
	b. Delinquent amounts and methods of determination?
	c. Weighted average and range of stated interest rates? [SFAS 66, par. 50 (AC Rel.150)]
C.	Investments
1.	. Do the following disclosures relating to significant joint ventures appear appropriate:

		Yes	No	N/A
	a. The name of each joint venture, the percentage of ownership, and any important provisions of the joint venture agreement? [AAG, par. 3.27]
	b. If the joint venture's financial statements are not fully consolidated with those of the venturer, separate or combined financial statements of the ventures in summary form, including disclosure of accounting principles of the ventures that differ significantly from those of the venturer?  [AAG, par. 3.27]
	c. Intercompany transactions during the period and the basis of intercompany billings and charges? [AAG, par. 3.27]
	d. Liabilities and contingent liabilities arising from the joint venture arrangement? [AAG, par. 3.27]
	e. Other disclosures for real estate venture and equity method investments? [SOP 78-9, par. 12; APB 18, par. 20 (AC I82.110)]
2.	Is an investment in a joint venture that is presented on the cost or equity method classified as noncurrent unless the venture is expected to be completed and liquidated during the current operating cycle? [AAG, par. 6.11]
3.	Are losses in excess of an investment in a joint venture presented as a liability? [AAG, Par. 6.11]
D.	Property and Equipment
1.	If it appears that equipment acquired for a specific contract will be used only on that contract and will be consumed during the life of the contract or disposed of at the conclusion of the contract, is such equipment classified as a contract cost? [AAG, par. 6.12]
E.	Current Liabilities
	For billings, costs, and estimated earnings:
	a. If costs and estimated earnings exceed billings on some contracts, and billings exceed costs and estimated earnings on others, are the contracts segregated so that amounts classified as assets include only those on which costs and estimated earnings exceed billings, and amounts classified as liabilities include only those on which billings exceed costs and estimated earnings? [AAG, pars. 6.16—.19; ARB 45, par. 12 (AC Co4.109)]
	b. Are billings and related costs and estimated earnings presented separately in the balance sheet or in the notes to the financial statements? [AAG, par. 6.18]
	c. Are billings in excess of costs and estimated earnings classified as a current liability (except that billings in excess of total estimated contract completion costs and earnings to date should be classified as deferred income)? [AAG, par. 6.13]
F.	Other Liabilities and Deferred Credits
1.	If payables appear to include retentions, do the statements or notes disclose their amount, the portion (if any) expected to be paid after one year and, if practicable, the years in which the amounts are expected to be paid? [AAG, par. 6.03]
2.	Are retentions payable that do not appear due within the company's operating cycle classified as noncurrent in a classified balance sheet? [AAG, par. 6.10]
3.	Are the disclosures and classifications appropriate regarding the income tax effects of differences between financial and tax reporting of:
	a. Long-term construction contracts?

Illustrative Financial Statements

.01 The following illustrative auditors' reports and financial statements demonstrate the practical applications of the reporting practices discussed in the AICPA Audit and Accounting Guide, Construction Contractors (the Guide). Some of the illustrations have been modified for subsequent pronouncements. Specific types of construction contractors have been selected to illustrate diversity of reporting practices; it is not intended that these illustrations represent either the only types of disclosure or the only statement formats that would be appropriate. Construction contractors are urged to develop financial statement formats that are appropriate for their individual circumstances while being consistent with the accounting and reporting practices discussed in the Guide.

Independent Auditor's Report

To the Shareholders and Board of Directors Percentage Contractors, Inc.

We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of Percentage Contractors, Inc. and subsidiaries as of December 31, 19X8 and 19X7, and the related consolidated statements of income and retained earnings and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Percentage Contractors, Inc. and subsidiaries as of December 31, 19X8 and 19X7, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

Company's activities and operating cycle. Percentage Contractors, Inc. (the Company) is engaged in a single industry: the construction of industrial and commercial buildings. The work is performed under cost-plus-fee contracts, fixed-price contracts, and fixed-price contracts modified by incentive and penalty provisions. These contracts are undertaken by the Company or its wholly owned subsidiary alone or in partnership with other contractors through joint ventures. The Company also manages, for a fee, construction projects of others.

The length of the Company's contracts varies but is typically about two years. Therefore, assets and liabilities are not classified as current and noncurrent because the contract-related items in the balance sheet have realization and liquidation periods extending beyond one year.

Principles of consolidation. The consolidated financial statements include the Company's majority-owned entities, a wholly owned corporate subsidiary and a 75 percent-owned joint venture (a partnership). All significant intercompany transactions are eliminated. The Company has a minority interest in a joint venture (partnership), which is reported on the equity method.

Revenue and cost recognition. Revenues from fixed-price and modified fixed-price construction contracts are recognized on the percentage-of-completion method, measured by the percentage of labor hours incurred to date to estimated total labor hours for each contract.* This method is used because management considers expended labor hours to be the best available measure of progress on these contracts. Revenues from cost-plus-fee contracts are recognized on the basis of costs incurred during the period plus the fee earned, measured by the cost-to-cost method.

Contracts to manage, supervise, or coordinate the construction activity of others are recognized only to the extent of the fee revenue. The revenue earned in a period is based on the ratio of hours incurred to the total estimated hours required by the contract.

Contract costs include all direct material and labor costs and those indirect costs related to contract performance, such as indirect labor, supplies, tools, repairs, depreciation, and interest costs. Selling, general, and administrative costs are charged to expense as incurred. Provisions for estimated losses on uncompleted contracts are made in the period in which such losses are determined. Changes in job performance, job conditions, and estimated profitability, including those arising from contract penalty provisions, and final contract settlements may result in revisions to costs and income and are recognized in the period in which the revisions are determined. Profit incentives are included in revenues when their realization is reasonably assured. An amount equal to contract costs attributable to claims is included in revenues when realization is probable and the amount can be reliably estimated.

The asset, "Costs and estimated earnings in excess of billings on uncompleted contracts," represents revenues recognized in excess of amounts billed. The liability, "Billings in excess of costs and estimated earnings on uncompleted contracts," represents billings in excess of revenues recognized.

*There are various other alternatives to the percentage-of-labor-hours method for measuring percentage of completion, which, in many cases, may be more appropriate in measuring the extent of progress toward completion of the contract (labor dollars, units of output, and the cost-to-cost method and its variations).

Property and equipment. Depreciation and amortization are provided principally on the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets. Amortization of leased equipment under capital leases is included in depreciation and amortization.

Interest costs. The Company capitalizes interest costs related to the majority of its construction projects.

Pension plan. The Company has a pension plan covering substantially all employees not covered by union-sponsored plans. Pension costs charged to earnings include current-year costs and the amortization of prior-service costs over 30 years. The Company's policy is to fund the costs accrued.

Construction contracts are reported for tax purposes on the completed-contract method and for financial statement purposes on the percentage-of-completion method. Accelerated depreciation is used for tax reporting, and straight-line depreciation is used for financial statement reporting.

Total advances and equity	$ 205,600	$130,700

(For the purposes of illustrative financial statements, the one-line equity method of presentation is used in both the balance sheet and the income statement. However, the pro rata consolidation method is acceptable if the investment is deemed to represent an undivided interest.)

Note 5: Transactions With Related Party

The note receivable, related company, is an installment note bearing annual interest at 91/4%, payable quarterly, with the principal payable in annual installments of $25,000, commencing October 1, 19Y0.

The major Company stockholder owns the majority of the outstanding common stock of this related company, whose principal activity is leasing land and buildings. The Company rents land and office facilities from the related company under a ten-year lease ending September 30, 19Y6, at an annual rental of $19,000.

Note 7: Accounts Payable

Accounts payable include amounts due to subcontractors, totaling $634,900 at December 31, 19X8, and $560,400 at December 31, 19X7, which have been retained pending completion and customer acceptance of jobs. Accounts payable at December 31, 19X8, include $6,500 that is not expected to be paid within one year.

Note 8: Notes Payable*

	December 31, 19X8	December 31, 19X7
Unsecured note payable to bank, due in quarterly installments of $22,575 plus interest at 1% over prime	$388,100	$478,400
at 10% through December 19Y2	80,000	100,000
	$468,100	$578,400

At December 31, 19X8, the principal payments due totaled $110,300 annually.

Note 9: Lease Obligations Payable

The Company leases certain specialized construction equipment under leases classified as capital leases. The following is a schedule showing the future minimum lease payments under capital leases by years and the present value of the minimum lease payments as of December 31, 19X8:

Year ending December 31
19X9	$ 76,500
19Y0	76,500
19Y1	76,500
Total minimum lease payments	229,500
Less amount representing interest	31,900
Present value of minimum lease payments	$197,600

At December 31, 19X8, the present value of minimum lease payments due within one year is $92,250. Total rental expense, excluding payments on capital leases, totaled $86,300 in 19X8 and $74,400 in 19X7.

* SFAS No. 47, Disclosure of Long-Term Obligations, also requires disclosure of maturities of long-term obligations for each of the five years following the balance-sheet date.

Note 10: Contingent Liability

A claim for $180,000 has been filed against the Company and its bonding company arising out of the failure of a subcontractor of the Company to pay its suppliers. In the opinion of counsel and management, the outcome of this claim will not have a material effect on the Company's financial position, results of operations, or cash flows.

Note 11: Pension Plan

[Deleted—See FASB Statement No. 87, Employer's Accounting for Pensions (AC P16), for current disclosure requirements.]

Note 12: Management Contracts

The Company manages or supervises commercial and industrial building contracts of others for a fee. These fees totaled $121,600 in 19X8 and $1,700 in 19X7 and are included in contract revenues earned.

Note 13: Income Taxes

Note: See FASB Statement No. 109, Accounting for Income Taxes (AC I27), for additional disclosure requirements that are applicable for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 1992.

The provision for income taxes consists of the following:

	Decem	ıber 31,
	19X8	19X7
Currently payable		$300,900
Contract related	204,200	(80,900)
Property and equipment related
	$662,900	$225,000
The components of the balance of deferred income taxes were:
Contract related	$594,000	$389,800
Property and equipment related		18,200
	$619,200	$408,000

Note 14: Backlog *

The following schedule shows a reconciliation of backlog representing signed contracts, excluding fees from management contracts, in existence at December 31, 19X7 and 19X8:

Balance, December 31, 19X7	1,067,100
Less contract revenue earned, 19X8	28,900,300 22,432,500
Balance, December 31, 19X8	$ 6,467,800

In addition, between January 1, 19X9 and February 18, 19X9, the Company entered into additional construction contracts with revenues of $5,332,800.

Note 15: Noncash Investing and Financing Activities

In 19X7, the Company purchased equipment on open account amounting to $24,000 and incurred capitalized lease obligations for new equipment amounting to $14,000.

Note 16: Major Customers and Risk Concentrations

In 19X8 and 19X7, respectively, two and three customers accounted for 56% and 48% of contract revenues earned.

The Company grants credit, generally without collateral, to its customers, which are located primarily in the New England area. Management believes that its contract acceptance, billing, and collection policies are adequate to minimize potential credit risk. At December 31, 19X8, real estate operators, manufacturers and others respectively accounted for 62%, 30% and 8% of contract receivables, and 45%, 33% and 22% of costs and estimated earnings on uncompleted contracts. In 19X8 and 19X7, respectively, 52% and 47% of contract revenues were earned from Connecticut sources.

The Company is exposed to credit loss in the event of nonperformance by its subcontractors. At December 31, 19X8, the Company was contingently liable under guarantees of certain subcontractors' obligations maturing in 19X9 and aggregating $479,000, including a Connecticut subcontractor's obligations amounting to $298,000.

.07 Independent Auditor's Report on Accompanying Information

To the Shareholders and Board of Directors Percentage Contractors, Inc.

Our audits were made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The accompanying information, contained in the following schedules 1 through 3, is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audits of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

The Stockholders and Board of Directors

Completed Contractors, Inc.

We have audited the accompanying balance sheets of Completed Contractors, Inc. as of December 31, 19X8 and 19X7, and the related statements of income and retained earnings and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Completed Contractors, Inc. as of December 31, 19X8 and 19X7, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

Company's activities. The Company is a heating and air-conditioning contractor for residential and commercial properties. Work on new structures is performed primarily under fixed-price contracts. Work on existing structures is performed under fixed-price or time-and-material contracts.

Revenue and cost recognition. Revenues from fixed-price construction contracts are recognized on the completed-contract method. This method is used because the typical contract is completed in two months or less and financial position and results of operations do not vary significantly from those which would result from use of the percentage-of-completion method. A contract is considered complete when all costs except insignificant items have been incurred and the installation is operating according to specifications or has been accepted by the customer.

Revenues from time-and-material contracts are recognized currently as the work is performed.

Contract costs include all direct material and labor costs and those indirect costs related to contract performance, such as indirect labor, supplies, tools, repairs, and depreciation costs. General and administrative costs are charged to expense as incurred. Provisions for estimated losses on uncompleted contracts are made in the period in which such losses are determined. Claims are included in revenues when received.

Costs in excess of amounts billed are classified as current assets under costs in excess of billings on uncompleted contracts. Billings in excess of costs are classified under current liabilities as billings in excess of costs on uncompleted contracts. Contract retentions are included in accounts receivable.

Inventories. Inventories are stated at cost on the first-in, first-out basis using unit cost for furnace and airconditioning components and average cost for parts and supplies. The carrying value of furnace and airconditioning component units is reduced to realizable value when such values are less than cost.

Property and equipment. Depreciation is provided over the estimated lives of the assets principally on the declining-balance method, except on the building where the straight-line method is used.

Pension plan. The Company has a pension plan covering all employees not covered by union-sponsored plans. Pension costs charged to income include current-year costs and the amortization of prior-service costs over 30 years. The Company's policy is to fund the costs accrued.

Note 7: Pension Plans

[Deleted—See FASB Statement No. 87, Employers' Accounting for Pensions (AC P16), for current disclosure requirements.]

Note 8: Backlog *

The estimated gross revenue of work to be performed on signed contracts was $4,691,000 at December 31, 19X8, and $3,617,400 at December 31, 19X7. In addition to the backlog of work to be performed, there was gross revenue, to be reported in future periods under the completed-contract method used by the Company, of $2,460,000 at December 31, 19X8, and $2,170,000 at December 31, 19X7.

Note 9: Risk Concentrations

The Company's contract revenues and receivables, and costs on uncompleted contracts, are each divided approximately equally between residential and commercial sources, which are primarily located within 50 miles of its home office in Millburn, Connecticut. The Company generally requires a deposit of up to 20% of the contract price before commencing work and bills the balance upon completion.
