Dr. Marie E. Dubke, CPA, is Associate Professor of Accounting at Central Michigan University, Mount Pleasant, Michigan. "Accounting Theory and Practice—How Far Apart?", which we are pleased to publish, is based upon a talk which Dr. Dubke gave at a meeting of the Grand Rapids ASWA Chapter. Dr. Dubke was recently elected to serve her first year as Director of AWSCPA. During the past year, she has been one of the contributors to "Tips for Busy Readers".

It's Convention Time

Official notices of the 1965 business meetings of AWSCPA and ASWA have been published. Even though the business meetings are open only to the Societies' members, anyone interested in accounting is cordially invited to attend the technical sessions, the luncheon meetings, and the annual banquet and other social functions. The theme "Increased Proficiency in Accounting" has been chosen for the technical sessions. All meetings will be held in the Statler-Hilton Hotel, Dallas, Texas, during the period September 15-18, 1965. Additional information may be obtained from Mrs. Nora Munger, General Chairman, 2402 Fenwick Drive, Dallas, Texas 75228.

Perhaps a quotation from a letter written after the recent Western Regional ASWA Conference in Seattle will explain the annual return of many members to each convention:

"This is to thank you for a most informative and enjoyable convention time. It has been my experience to attend several conventions on the part of other organizations and, several conventions arranged by the male of the species but none has been so well arranged, so smoothly executed, and so considerate of conventioners as this one.

A part of conventions is meeting people. So, I am enclosing a list of people with whom I would like to stay in contact. Sometime, when you have caught your breath and you have plenty of time, can you fill in their addresses? It will be most appreciated."

The foregoing remarks were written by a woman "interested in the field of accounting" who spoke at the meeting in Seattle. No doubt, persons who attend the meeting in Dallas in September will have a similar reaction. Certainly this has been true of former annual meetings, and the traditional Texas hospitality will be in evidence in Dallas.
