IS THERE ANYTHING ELSE YOU'D LIKE ?

Sung by WILKIE BARD

---

Some men want to be borrowing everything they see ;
One day I met a fellow who borrow'd a quid from me ;
He said, " While you're about it, Billy, you may as well lend me two ;"
I said, " Certainly—make it a couple— I'd do anything for you—

Is there any big else you'd like ?
Is there anything else you'd like ?
P'r'aps you fancy my diamond pin ?
My watch and chain and my signet ring ?
Here ! have a nice cigar ?
Allow me the match to strike !
And don't you trouble, I'll light it for you,
Is there anything else you'd like ? "

Last night I was aroused by a burglar in my room,
I saw he was purloining my jewellery in the gloom ;
He was bung'ng my valuables and my cash-box into his bag ;
I said, " Mister ! just half a minute before you remove the swag—

Is there anything else you'd like ?
Is there anything else you'd like ?
Wait a minute till I get dressed,
You come with me and we'll find the rest,
Here ! take this grand piano, and
Here's my safety bike ;
And here's a barrow to wheel 'em home—
Is there anything else you'd like ? "

One night, just about seven, a fellow came round to me.
He said, " I've got a couple of seats 'or the Theatre, free,
I don't know any ladies, Bill, do you mind if I take your wife
I said, " Certainly, Charlie, you can take my old pain and s'wife !

Is there anything else you'd like ?
Is there anything else you'd like ?
Wait ! I'll lend you my evening clothes,
And here's a tanner to buy a rose ;
Take my best overcoat,
The cold is sure to strike
And here's a dollar to pay the cab
Is there anything else you'd like ? "
