Now we shan't be long before we do.

Sung by HERBERT CAMPBELL.

I've often thought of married life,
While sitting on my own.
And fancy I should like a wife,
It's wrong to be alone,
I have to do my needlework
To make myself look smart
But yesterday I'm glad to say
I found a little tart

Chorus :—

Now we shan't be long before we do, we do, we do,
Just because she knows a thing or two, two, two,
She looked so very sly, and she winked the other eye
Oh, Jerusalem, now we shan't be long.

I took a villa out of town,
To please my better half,
Down by the sea, oh what a spree
Where she could have a bath,
The comforts that I had oh my
All things went on serene
Not being used to bathing, I
Got in the wrong machine.

My wife she tore her beef-eater,
At me began to swear
She tore my Trilby in a half
My charming lady fair
She jumped about the room like mad
And swore she'd punch my head,
But very soon we made things right
Then tumbled into bed.

Three years we have been married, and
We've neither chick nor child,
It often upsets Mary Jane
And sometimes makes me wild,
At night she'll wander in her sleep
I get it hot and strong,
But she rests mere contented and
Says now we shan't be long.
