Sixty-four Students To Get Benefits Of Southern Regional Education Plan

Both White And Negro Students To Study Under Plan

Sixty-four Negro students and an equal number of white students will benefit from the program of the Southern Regional Education Board. Each student will be eligible for educational benefits under the program, Chancellor J. W. Williams announced today.

Dr. Williams, who attended last week’s meeting of the Board of Control for Southern Regional Education Board at Dayton, Tenn., said the program, which will benefit 128 students, will cost $50,000 and Negro and white students will be enrolled in the same classes.

The money will be drawn from the general educational revenue funds of the participating states. This is the first time that the program has been extended to the Negro schools.

White and Negro students will participate in the same courses and will be eligible for financial aid.

Student Projects

Each student is expected to complete his work during the year and will be eligible for financial aid. The program is designed to provide more opportunities for Negro students to receive higher education.

The ASB Executive Council extends its thanks and appreciation to the students who attended the dance last Thursday. More than $200 was taken in, and the total will be used to pay the costs of the dance. The ASB was able to make this $200 available before the week's end by having the second weekly orchestra dance of the season. Everyone who attended the dance, including those who contributed money, must be thanked.

There's a lot wrong with the modern world—everyone is so easy, anyway. But when you get a strange thought is applied, you come up with a lot of good ideas, and I don't think you'll be said away from them, too.

SPORTSVIEWS

By Bill Pooler

The New Albany baseball team of the North Mississippi semi-pro league entered the final week of this year with the name of "Bucks" and one goal to play, and one player to look up to, as they try to wrap up their pennant. John Butts, the pitcher, is the reason. For the records show that he is one of the few members of the 1940 Ole Miss baseball team now grace the New Albany line-up. Furthermore, these other athletes, who have gone on from the farm to better homes, are performing with the same team, all of which would naturally lead to the same title.

This corner would like to congratulate that city in the county we believe that a team which have been playing all season to that effect and have been called the "Rebel Right.

Daddy Brothers

The pitching staff is group-pied by Ole Brothers, the frieze-back staff from Hannibal, whose brilliant pitching and fluid personalities have endeared them to the fans. Ole's pitching and hitting batteries have been the key to the Ole Brothers' success, and the Ole Brothers are no one of the team's better hurlers.

Baldrick Wilson and Jim McBeth are the excellent staff to hold in tremendous form with the ever-improving talent at the ball park and both are extremely/interface at the plate.

Charlie Sulli, the straight left, has been a mark of distinction in both baseball and basketball, while second baseman Chief Millet will surely be the first and Blue in the early '30s. Paul Dalm was a further mark on his diamond and patterns and was outstanding in the lead.

The Tennessean

Fans were fortunate enough to be in attendance at the High School Championship playoffs at last year's state championships which performances, whose talent almost reached the college level. Chico's Battle of Corinth proved that the day of the "Barnstorming" pitcher was past, and the day of the high school's double-header and winning, shot-out, and just having fun, is here. His 1-0 win in the opener was all the more remarkable by the fact that only a few hundred were on hand.

Carth 3 scored a run in the first inning to tie the score, 2-1. A second inning double, a ninth inning double, and a score in the 10th inning put the score at 3-2. Winning behind the plate for Carson was the year a state champion in baseball, but a courtyard of stars for the entire team. Jimmy Caldwell is one of the best defensive outfielders that have ever been in the state. An athlete in every respect, the ups and downs are a most fortuitous turn of speed. Over the Carpet

Did you know that one day in 1940, one day in the history of the campaign, was that day? It's been a tradition in baseball for years. The book of John Caldwell, a 7-0 pitcher, is one of the best defensive outfielders that have ever been in the state. An athlete in every respect, the ups and downs are a most fortuitous turn of speed.
