AUTHORS OF ARTICLES IN THIS ISSUE

FRANCIS P. BYERLY, author of the article, "Determination of earnings and dividends under Federal tax law," is a partner of Price, Waterhouse & Co., New York. A graduate of Harvard University, where he received the B.A. degree and later pursued studies in the graduate school of business administration, he has been engaged in public accounting practice since 1915. He was for two years prior to that date associated with Stone & Webster, Boston. He obtained his C.P.A. certificate from the state of Illinois. Mr. Byerly has been a member of the American Institute of Accountants since 1921.

ANDREW STEWART, whose paper entitled "Accountancy and regulatory bodies in the United States," delivered at the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the American Institute of Accountants, is published in this issue, is a partner of Haskins & Sells, New York. He is a graduate of Glasgow University, a chartered accountant of Scotland, and a certified public accountant of New York. Mr. Stewart has been a member of the Institute since 1919 and has served on many of its committees. He was a member of the executive committee on fiftieth anniversary celebration, and for several years has been a member of the special committee on coöperation with the Securities and Exchange Commission.
