AUTHORS OF ARTICLES IN THIS ISSUE

WILLIAM H. BELL, author of "Recent Pronouncements of the S.E.C. on Accounting Subjects," is a partner of Haskins & Sells, New York. He received the B.C.S. degree of New York University in 1910 and the M.C.S. degree of St. Louis University in 1918. Mr. Bell is a certified public accountant of New York and several other states and has been a member of the American Institute of Accountants since 1916. He is at present a member of the Institute's committee on education and the special committee on cooperation with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

ARTHUR W. HANSON, who contributes one of the two comments on An Introduction to Corporate Accounting Standards, is a professor of accounting at Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration. Professor Hanson received the A.B. and A.M. degrees from Harvard in 1912 and 1923, respectively. In 1921 he obtained the M.B.A. degree from the Harvard Business School. He also holds the LL.B. degree.

ROY B. KESTER, who contributes one of the two comments on An Introduction to Corporate Accounting Standards, is a professor of accounting at Columbia University School of Business. Professor Kester received the A.B. degree of Missouri Wesleyan in 1902, the B.C.S. and M.A. degrees of Denver University in 1911 and 1912, and the Ph.D. degree of Columbia in 1922. He is a certified public accountant of New York and Colorado and has been a member of the American Institute of Accountants since 1916. At present he is chairman of the Institute's committee on education and a member of the committee on accounting procedure. He is the author of several books on accounting.

MAURICE E. PELOUBET, author of "Last-in, First-out Once More," is a partner of Pogson, Peloubet & Co., New York. Mr. Peloubet is a member of the American Institute of Accountants and has served on many of its committees. He is at present a member of council, a member of the executive committee, and of the committee on auditing procedure.

VICTOR H. STEMPF, author of "Trends in Accounting Procedure," received the B.C.S. degree of the School of Commerce of St. Louis University in 1915 and subsequently taught auditing and accounting there for several years. He has been associated with Touche, Niven & Co. since 1915, and is at present a partner of that firm in New York. He is immediate past president of the New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants, a vice president of the National Association of Cost Accountants, and a member of several important committees of the American Institute of Accountants.
